ERA 101ST YEAR, EXPRESS-HERALD 58TH YEAR

Here, There Around Town

By LOCAL OBSERVER

Perhaps it was beginner's luck, but on Thursday, Feb. 19, Mrs. Ernest Lundy caught a 12-pound lake trout while fishing through the ice at Lake Simcoe. It was the first time she had been in a fish house on the lake. Accompanying her husband, Ernest Lundy, his sister, Mrs. Cecil Sedore and niece, Miss Bertha Sedore, Keswick, Mrs. Lundy caught three white fish as well.

When Mrs. Lundy realized she had something on her line, everyone in the fishing party thought it was a ling. The trout put up quite a battle before it was landed. They were fishing west of Snake Island at Lake Simcoe. "Maybe it was beginner's luck," said Mrs. Lundy, "but it certainly was one fish that didn't get away. It was delicious."

Last week we told of a sum of money which had been found on Main St. Until then we had had no idea how many in town had had the misfortune of losing money. No less than five local citizens lost a $10 bill or more during that seven-day period.

One person reported losing his entire pay. He had taken it from his pay envelope and it had been dropped as a small bundle with the bills rolled together. Another woman went to the post office to mail a letter. She had a $10 bill in her glove. Somewhere in between the post office wicket and Stanley's restaurant she dropped the ten-dollar bill.

In another instance, a husband was doing some shopping for the family. He lost $22.

When these readers had seen the item in last week's Era and Express they each hoped that the money reported as found would be theirs. The sum turned in to us by this honest citizen was a $2 bill. It was dropped in front of Chainway's on Thursday or Friday evening by a man at about 5:15 p.m. Since it was not claimed this week we have passed it along to the Flood Relief fund as had been suggested by the finder.

The question remains in one's mind as to what could have happened to the other lost monies. Surely the wind couldn't have blown all of the five missing amounts into a catch-basin. In these days of high prices the loss of $10 or $20 could bring hardship to many families.

Local Observer almost made Neighbourly News last week. It was as close as we've ever come and yet it was our fault that the Era and Express didn't receive a mention.

One night recently we heard the fire whistle. Checking with the department we learned that it was a grass fire. In fact the fire was out before the firemen could arrive at the scene. "Oh, it was only a grass fire," we reported to the family and went back to the typewriter to finish a column.

Imagine our amazement when (Page 7, Col. 7)

The Newmarket Nursery school, a co-operative non-profit venture, started recently by a group of mothers, holds classes every afternoon in the fire hall auditorium. It has been increasing its enrolment steadily but funds from fees only pay for the operation of the school. The nursery school committee needs more educational toys and other equipment and will accept donations to help purchase these. The school takes children of pre-public school age from 2½ years up. With group classes at table above are the teacher Mrs. Georgina Hines, left, who is a trained nursery school teacher and her assistant, Mrs. Marilyn Marshall. Children are taught how to play together properly, do coloring, cut-outs and dress themselves properly. Era and Express photos.

Insurance Responsibility Up To Board Says Bell

The responsibility for disposition of insurance commissions to local agents from policies held by the Newmarket public school board was left to the board by the chairman, J. L. R. Bell, at a meeting last night. At the February meeting, Trustee Mrs. Mina Best criticized Mr. Bell for being a trustee and "having insurance on the schools".

A number of letters from local agents were received by the board last night. They were asking for a share in public school insurance. Mr. Bell said that although he set up the insurance scheme, he kept out of any discussions in the past when the board decided who should receive commissions.

"In 1937, after the death of Mr. Ken Robertson, I took over his insurance business and I was asked to supervise the insurance on the public schools," he said. "The amount of insurance continued to grow. There was a lightning loss at the Alexander Muir school and the board found that there were 20 odd companies to deal with for a claim of $400. It was proposed that all policies be amalgamated into one policy but it has taken three years to amalgamate them as the old policies expired at different times."

"One company now handles all insurance. There are three policies. One third of the insurance is due each year. The (agents') commission on all the insurance is allotted each year by the board. The board designates how much each agent should get. I have been very careful not to take part in any discussion on the board in these decisions.

"I have arranged insurance in a similar way for the high school and recently received a letter of thanks from its board."

Mrs. Best, at the last meeting, took exception to the fact that I received benefits through the insurance. When she takes that attitude, she make problems for me."

"I can do one of two things. I can resign from the board and hope to receive some business from the school board. On the other hand, a good number of people saw fit to put me in the position of trustee and I do not feel I can let them down. Therefore I feel I can have nothing to do with the public school insurance while I sit on the board."

"I will have nothing to do with the thing in any shape or form," Mr. Bell continued. "This business is rather setting a precedent. I know all kinds of insurance men who have held office and who have carried insurance on public buildings."

"Charlie Boyd sat on council and he wouldn't touch any insurance," said Trustee Mrs. Best. "Far be it from me to cast any dirt upon any person. The whole matter is up to the board," replied Chairman Bell.

"I don't think the insurance could be handled in any better way than it has been," said Trustee George Philmister. "After all, the board does business with people in town who are on the board or who have close relatives on the board. It doesn't matter whether we do business with Larry Bell or Allan Perks for that matter," he said. "Or the Office Specialty," added Mrs. Best.

"According to the law we are not supposed to have anything to do with insurance," said Trustee Arthur Lloyd. "But I think we should forget about all this stuff and start co-operating."

"I am not going to take any of this dirty underhanded business," said Mrs. Best. "Before the first of this year, the board got along fine," she said. "Just what do you mean?" asked Philmister.

"You are asking for personalities," Mrs. Curtis replied.

"There is no business about personalities. I came on this school board to do a job and help where I could," Mr. Philmister said.

"I told you I didn't want any part of it," Chairman Bell continued. "You can split up the commissions to any local agents in any way you want. All they have to do is collect the commissions. The work has been done now. The insurance scheme has been set up."

"If every agent shares in these commissions, it's a fair and equitable way," commented Trustee Allan Perks.

"As long as you tell the insurance company what to do, they will send out the cheques in any way you see fit," Mr. Bell said.

It was decided to divide up the commissions on a point system, similar to the arrangement adopted by the town council. Agents are on a point system. Full time insurance agents will receive a full share and part time agents who do not receive their full income from insurance work, will receive less.

On a motion by Allan Perks, the board approved of all local agents receiving shares. The local agents are to be listed by the secretary.

CONVICTED ON ASSAULT CHARGES

Three of four men accused of assaulting Carl Shearer, Pefferlaw, early on the morning of February 22, were sentenced to jail terms. Their cases were conducted in Newmarket court Tuesday morning last week, before Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake.

From evidence given, it was shown that Orville Porte and Arthur Mark, both of Georgina Island, delivered the most severe part of the beating. They were given two months each.

Lionel Taylor was found not guilty and released, while Walter Miller, Sutton, was found to be the least responsible and given ten days. During the trial, Carl Shearer was brought to the court room from York County hospital in order that the magistrate could find out how the injuries had been administered.

$122.78 FOR FUND

For the overseas flood fund, the Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion raised $122.78 at its bingo last night. The Legion had its largest attendance, 153, at the bingo.

Collingwood Player Dies After Game

Bob Gillies, 17, of Stayner, a defenceman on the Collingwood Greenshirts, died following injuries received in a hockey game at the Collingwood Arena last night, with the Aurora Bears.

Gillies was "boarded" by an Aurora defenceman, Walter Fines. His head struck the boards and his death was attributed to a fractured skull.

Walter Fines had to be escorted off the ice by police during a fight in which fans and players took part. The fight was reported to have lasted about 30 minutes.

Gillies, whose home is in Stayner, attended Collingwood high school. This was his first year in junior hockey. His mother who was watching the game, was reported to have described the incident as "murder on ice".

The brawl which lasted half an hour was finally stopped and the game was resumed and played to the finish.

Score at the end of the game was 8-4 for Collingwood.

See About-Face Policy On North Gwill. Council

By Mariane Gillan

Charles Johnston, Pefferlaw, received permission to build garages at Island Grove to accommodate automobiles for property owners on Snake Island, at a meeting of North Gwillimbury council on Monday in Belhaven hall.

Council instructed the clerk to issue Johnston a building permit despite a previous agreement between council members and planning board members not to issue such a permit because the site indicated was in a restricted area.

Council had met with the planning board on Jan. 22 and the board had recommended that permission for construction not be given.

At Monday's meeting of council, an about-face policy was adopted within ten minutes. Charles Johnston and his brother, Fred Johnston, attended the meeting with their solicitor, Clifford Howard.

In Mr. Howard's short address to council, he told them he wanted council to instruct the clerk to issue a licence to Charles Johnston for the erection of the garages. He said that if council did not issue the licence, the Johnstons would be forced to take more drastic steps, in the form of a mandamus. He said he would not want to put council in such a position so he would "not even mention the word again".

Council passed the following resolution: "The council does hereby instruct the clerk to issue a building permit to Charles Johnston for the purpose of erecting garages to accommodate cars of property owners on Snake Island and the said garage to be used commercially on lots 3 and 4, plan 185."

Mr. Fred Johnston stood over the clerk to see that the resolution was properly worded. A licence was requested on the spot but the clerk had to excuse himself as the licences were in the township offices at Keswick. The correct amount of money was left for the licence by the Johnstons.

Next on council agenda was another delegation who has attended meetings often, Mr. Chas. Jansten. Jansten has been trying to obtain a boat renting licence since he was told last August that he could not operate without one.

Jansten had been taken to court by the township for operating without a licence last fall. A conviction was made but no fine was levied. Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake said during the case that things regarding the case seemed to be "running around in circles". Mr. Jansten has not been able to obtain a licence since and has made many visits to council.

Jansten told council one of his neighbors was continually "bugging" council not to grant him a licence. His evidence, which had been requested, showed signatures of owners adjacent to his property who stated that they did not mind his boat livery in operation. The information was referred to the township solicitor, Joseph Vale.

St. Andrew's Church Marks 119th Anniversary Sunday

On Sunday, March 1, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church celebrated the 119th anniversary of its founding. Large congregations attended the morning and evening services. Reverend J. Stanley Glenn, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., principal of Knox College, Toronto, was the guest speaker.

It was appropriate that his subject in the morning worship should present the basic truth, out of which the inspiration to establish the congregation, stemmed; followed in the evening with a companion sermon setting forth the spirit of service motivated by love of God and humanity, that sustained the life of the congregation for well over the century as a living witness to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Special music was given by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Andrew. Mr. Terry Doane assisted by rendering a solo at each service. In the morning he gave expression to the prayer that at sometime in the petition of every sincere heart: "Just for Today". It was quite fitting that he should at the evening service express the wish of his own heart in "Lord Bless This House".

Rev. F. R. Meredith, the minister of St. Andrew's, introduced and welcomed Dr. Glenn in the morning and expressed the appreciation and thanks of the Session and congregation in the evening.

After the evening worship, the choir gave further evidence of the fine spirit that prevails by serving sandwiches, cake and coffee. On all sides there was the conviction that the anniversary celebration was a pronounced success.

Arena Debt $3,000 Year

The Newmarket Memorial arena cost taxpayers approximately $3,000 a year. At a meeting of the town council and the arena commission, called by Mayor Vale on Monday night, it was learned that the town will have to pay $6,200 for the arena in 1953.

The mayor explained that the deficit from 1952 and the inclusion of $3,000 in the budget in anticipation of a similar arena deficit in 1953 makes up the total.

The town has been paying off the deficit every year by using its annual surplus, the mayor said, but he added that he thought council should budget for the deficit annually since the arena's annual deficit was approximately $3,000.

Council members and commission members discussed the arena finances for some time. Members of council came to the conclusion that the arena policy as a compromise between providing recreation and paying off debenture debt as soon as possible, was acceptable. Members of council approved of the policy.

"I just wanted the taxpayers to know what it is costing them," said the mayor. "That is why I asked for this meeting."

Arena Manager Stan Smith said "We cannot give free time at all and our ice time is too cheap in my opinion. We have about the lowest rates you could find."

Councillor Joseph Dales, a member of the commission said that the arena must pay off $7,800 annually in insurance premiums and debenture interest and principal incurred by the installation of artificial ice.

EASTER SEALS MAILED

The Easter Seal campaign for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children starts today. In Newmarket the Lions club is sponsoring the campaign and letters with Easter seals are being mailed out today. It is the hope of the society that $475,000 will be raised for crippled children this year. The campaign closes on April 5. The Newmarket Lions have made a request for generous donations this year.

St. Andrew's Church Marks 119th Anniversary Sunday

On Sunday, March 1, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church celebrated the 119th anniversary of its founding. Large congregations attended the morning and evening services. Reverend J. Stanley Glenn, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., principal of Knox College, Toronto, was the guest speaker.

THURSDAY, THE FIFTH DAY OF MARCH, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-AND FIFTY-THREE

PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW ALL

The Newmarket council and the members of the Newmarket Memorial Arena commission met on Monday evening and it was learned that the arena costs the taxpayers approximately $3,000 a year. What is now clear is that the policy of the commission is one of compromise between providing recreational facilities for the children and citizens of Newmarket at low charges and paying off the debt brought about by the installation of artificial ice.

The town council approved of the arena's policy. The members of council understand that by charging for "ice time" and by increasing admission charges, the arena could meet its annual payments on debenture principal and interest. Under the present policy, the commission members say, the arena cannot pay off its debts in the length of time required. Only part of its financial obligation can be met.

Members of council have accepted the responsibility for the arena policy and assume that the taxpayers approve of paying the equivalent of a subsidy for recreation in Newmarket. There are often rumors about the arena policy and some disgruntled individuals say, "There is something wrong with the operation of the arena". It is up to these individuals to find out the facts for themselves or surely, all information about the operation of the arena is open to the public.

If citizens disapprove of the present over-all policy they must indicate to council that they do so. Critics of the detailed functions of arena management would surely be welcomed to meetings of the arena commission. It is all public business and a good commission should accept reasonable criticisms from the citizens of the town. One suggestion to the arena commission might be that it should increase its attentions to the important job of public relations. The more the public knows of the facts, the easier will be the commission's work.

HOSPITAL POSITION EASED

The reports about York County hospital, given at the annual meeting of the hospital board on Wednesday of last week, show that its financial position is much improved over the previous year. The hospital found itself in a serious situation last year when its bank overdraft reached discouraging heights following a substantial operating loss in the previous year.

Hospital authorities had to make a plea to the municipalities for funds. Members of the hospital board, particularly its chairman, Mr. Kenneth Stiver, spent many hours of their spare time meeting municipal representatives in the North York area, explaining and pleading the case for the hospital. Townships, villages and towns in the district were asked for grants in proportion to the number of patients from each municipality which the hospital serves. Grants provided helped improve the hospital's financial position.

It is the same story for most hospitals in Ontario. Costs have soared in staggering proportion to incomes. Hospitals must depend on municipal and provincial grants and public contributions to make up the difference between patient rates and costs of operation. Most of them operate in the "red". Last year York County hospital obtained a special grant from the provincial government. At the annual meeting, a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Stiver for his efforts to obtain the grant. The County of York also makes its annual grant to the hospital and provided special grants last year. With the improved financial picture, it is not expected that municipalities will be asked for special grants again this year.

The hospital should look to a brighter future, now that the formation of a Toronto metropolitan area is definite. The night of the hospital board's annual meeting, the announcement was made about provincial legislation for a metropolitan area. It was seen that the formation of the area would affect the disposition of York County grants to hospitals and any statements about plans for future expansion were dropped. If anything, future county grants to this hospital should be increased.

The reduction of the county to the 14 northern municipalities likely will mean an improved financial arrangement for the hospital. Up to now, a large part of the county grants has been going to hospitals in Toronto or near Toronto. After a metropolitan area is formed, York County hospital will be the only hospital in a reduced county of northern municipalities. Since the tax income of the county will be reduced, grants in the future should be directed entirely to the hospital here. It would seem that the future County of York should devote its energies to enlarging the present hospital in Newmarket to accommodate more patients and be better equipped to serve the northern area.

NEED ALL IN HEALTH UNIT

The York County health unit at present serves most of the municipalities of the county but there is a small number of municipalities which have not joined the unit. The municipalities which do not belong to the unit leave the responsibility of public health to a board of health or to a medical officer of health. It is likely that one medical officer of health, a general practitioner, can give little time to the public health problems when compared to the full time public health specialists.

Although some townships do not pay for the services of the county health unit, they are receiving some of its services without charge. Public school students attending Newmarket schools, for example, who live north of the town, in East Gwillimbury township, are receiving benefits of public health services of the unit. The parents of these students pay Newmarket school taxes but the rest of their taxes go to East Gwillimbury.

There are other cases where non-contributing municipalities receive benefits. Milk producers who supply milk to Newmarket dairies, for instance, but who live in municipalities not in the health unit scheme, receive the benefits through the York County unit's inspections.

The York County health unit is not without its problems. Health unit income is based on a contribution of one mill from each contributing municipality. Since county equalization of assessments has changed the value of the mill in various municipalities, the income this year for the health unit is actually less. Some municipalities are paying less on this basis which was adopted when the unit was formed. It would be reasonable to say that a different basis must be adopted in the near future.

The formation of a metropolitan area around Toronto will make a change in the health unit set-up. The health unit would no longer serve county municipalities to be included in the new area. When the new York County of 14 northern municipalities is established, it is to be hoped that all of the 14 municipalities will be members of the health unit.

WORK OF MERCY

"The work of mercy never ends". Disaster strikes, floods rise and whenever and wherever help is needed, there is the Red Cross to carry on its work of mercy. The annual campaign of the Canadian Red Cross Society is now on. The Red Cross needs $5,300,600 to keep up its important work, "the promotion of health, the mitigation of suffering" in 1953. The comfort and aid that the Red Cross brings in time of trouble cannot be measured in dollars and cents, but that is the amount of money needed to be raised.

The Newmarket Red Cross campaign for funds will be held in the form of a "blitz" drive again this year on the evening of Thursday, March 19. Donations may be made at any time, however, to the campaign chairman, Mr. Alex McKay, at the Newmarket branch of the Bank of Toronto. Newmarket residents are asked to keep in mind, the March 19 evening when representatives will call at each door and ask for contributions.

The average citizen, however much he might like to help, would not know where it is needed most, nor what kind of help was required in an emergency. But the Red Cross knows and with its trained personnel and equipment, it is there at the right time with its Disaster service, Blood Transfusion service, or the Out-post hospitals where aid is given to those living in the isolated sections of the country. These important services must be maintained and they will be maintained by everyone's contribution.

The Red Cross is on hand at every occasion, not only in Canada but in every country in the world. Through the help of local branches, the following was shipped to the Holland flooded areas from the Ontario Division:

3,122 sheets, 103 wool blankets, 241 quilts, 248 pillow cases, 308 layettes, 4,255 articles of clothing, a total of 14,129 articles. The value of the raw material was estimated to be $15,000. The British Red Cross asked Canada to send the bulk of the Red Cross aid to Holland but recently a request has been received for 3,000 seaboot stockings, 3,000 lumbermen's jackets and 5,000 balaclavas. The work of the local branch in Newmarket helps provide these items.

Citizens of Newmarket are asked once again to dig into their purses and make their annual contribution to the Red Cross on March 19. The work of mercy by the Red Cross is worthy of everyone's support.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

Things have changed around here since this new boss came in last fall. He certainly does not appreciate the finer things for his newspaper. I suppose you noticed that this column was omitted from last week's issue. I consider it an unforgivable offence.

At the present time, the boss and I are on the outs. We are definitely not speaking. It is the second offence this year. These pearls of wisdom, we are sure, are looked forward to each week by thousands of readers but unfortunately the boss does not yet realize that the people buy the paper to read Catnips.

Last week we had a perfectly excellent report on the Detroit pet show and he deliberately left it out. Now the dailies have published stories about it and it's completely robbed your favorite correspondent of a scoop.

You probably read of the scratching and biting episode at this show which has always been considered the annual meeting place of svelte pooches and cats.

Well, this year, it turned out that well-bred dogs and cats appearing at the Detroit show left five persons bathing their wounds. Compté Dilly de Pilsnerbrand, a silver Persian cat, commanded the attention of all spectators twice during the cat show. She first was named "all breed best of show". Then she took a curtain call by escaping while posing before press cameramen and scratched and bit four persons before being captured. It certainly shows what a blooded back-ground can do. Even Pilsnerbrand's psychiatrist could not explain this emotional outburst.

Returned to the show cage, Pilsnerbrand resumed the role of a dignified champion.

Meanwhile Go Merry Gigolo, a Sillyham, exhibited at the Kennel club show by Princess Eminent Swishish, was a virtual prisoner after being accused of biting an ardent enthusiast on the nose.

Health officers, fearing rabies, were ready to send Go Merry to the local sin bin for 10 days observation in a definitely low class environment. However the princess saved him from the fate of a common mutt, it was reported, and he will be allowed to stay at his rooms in the Book Lushmobile hotel.

If the boss omits this, I'm through!

The Top Six Inches by "Dairy Farmer"

It is too early to say whether or not the legislation introduced by the new minister of agriculture to amend the vegetable oil legislation does all that we hope it to do. It will take a lawyer to figure this one out and we only hope that the Federation has a good one to read the small print.

What it seems to boil down to, is that all products which contain edible oils will need licensing before they can be produced or sold. The important point seems to be not to relax the pressure and not to find that some day this license has been granted because the edible oil people have been smarter than we are. We might as well admit too, that this legislation will be a kind of a whip in the government's hands to keep the dairy people in line. It can allow the manufacture of substitutes if the pressure from the other side gets too high or if some other factor makes it expedient to sacrifice a few dairy farmers.

This might sound callous to some but the fact remains that if the farmers of this country run into a difficult period due to weather or crop conditions, or if the level of other agricultural produce goes down, or if conditions will force us to ask for higher prices, we doubt that the government will hesitate in granting licenses, if it will suit them. It will always have the excuse that it was for the good of the majority.

Frankly, we feel that the real story about what our greatest difficulties are, still hasn't been told. We have taken about a 14 percent reduction in our income last year and while we may be successful in holding it at this or even improving it a little, all the items that we have to buy have gone up and are still going up. It isn't right to say that now that hogs, for example, have not gone to the floor yet, the hog industry is saved and in the clear. Or because fluid milk prices are steady so far or the market in the states is about to open up, we are in the clear. This isn't so.

Implements still are going up. Not only are they going up but the present way of pricing, which means that the dealer quotes the price and then says, "plus freight", means also that any increase in freight rates is automatically passed on to us. Neither is it much comfort when we are confronted with improvements at extra cost. Whenever we improve our buildings or methods of production or raise our wages, we are unable to pass it on or even make a case for ourselves.

This brings us back to the resolution that the local federation sent down to the annual meeting, that retail markups be investigated. We are wondering what has been done about it, the more so since the new budget gave a real break to corporations, large dealers and even the fellows who clip the coupons. Will any of this be apparent in lower prices to us? This is the point that we feel the Federation should look into.

It also brings us back to this business of our relations with labor. We believe that if a real effort were made, labor would understand that we had to increase our returns. You never see one union not support another union's wage demands, even if it means extra money out of their pockets. If, for example, automobile prices go up because wages increase, you never hear another union "hollering" against it, even though, individually they have to pay more for cars.

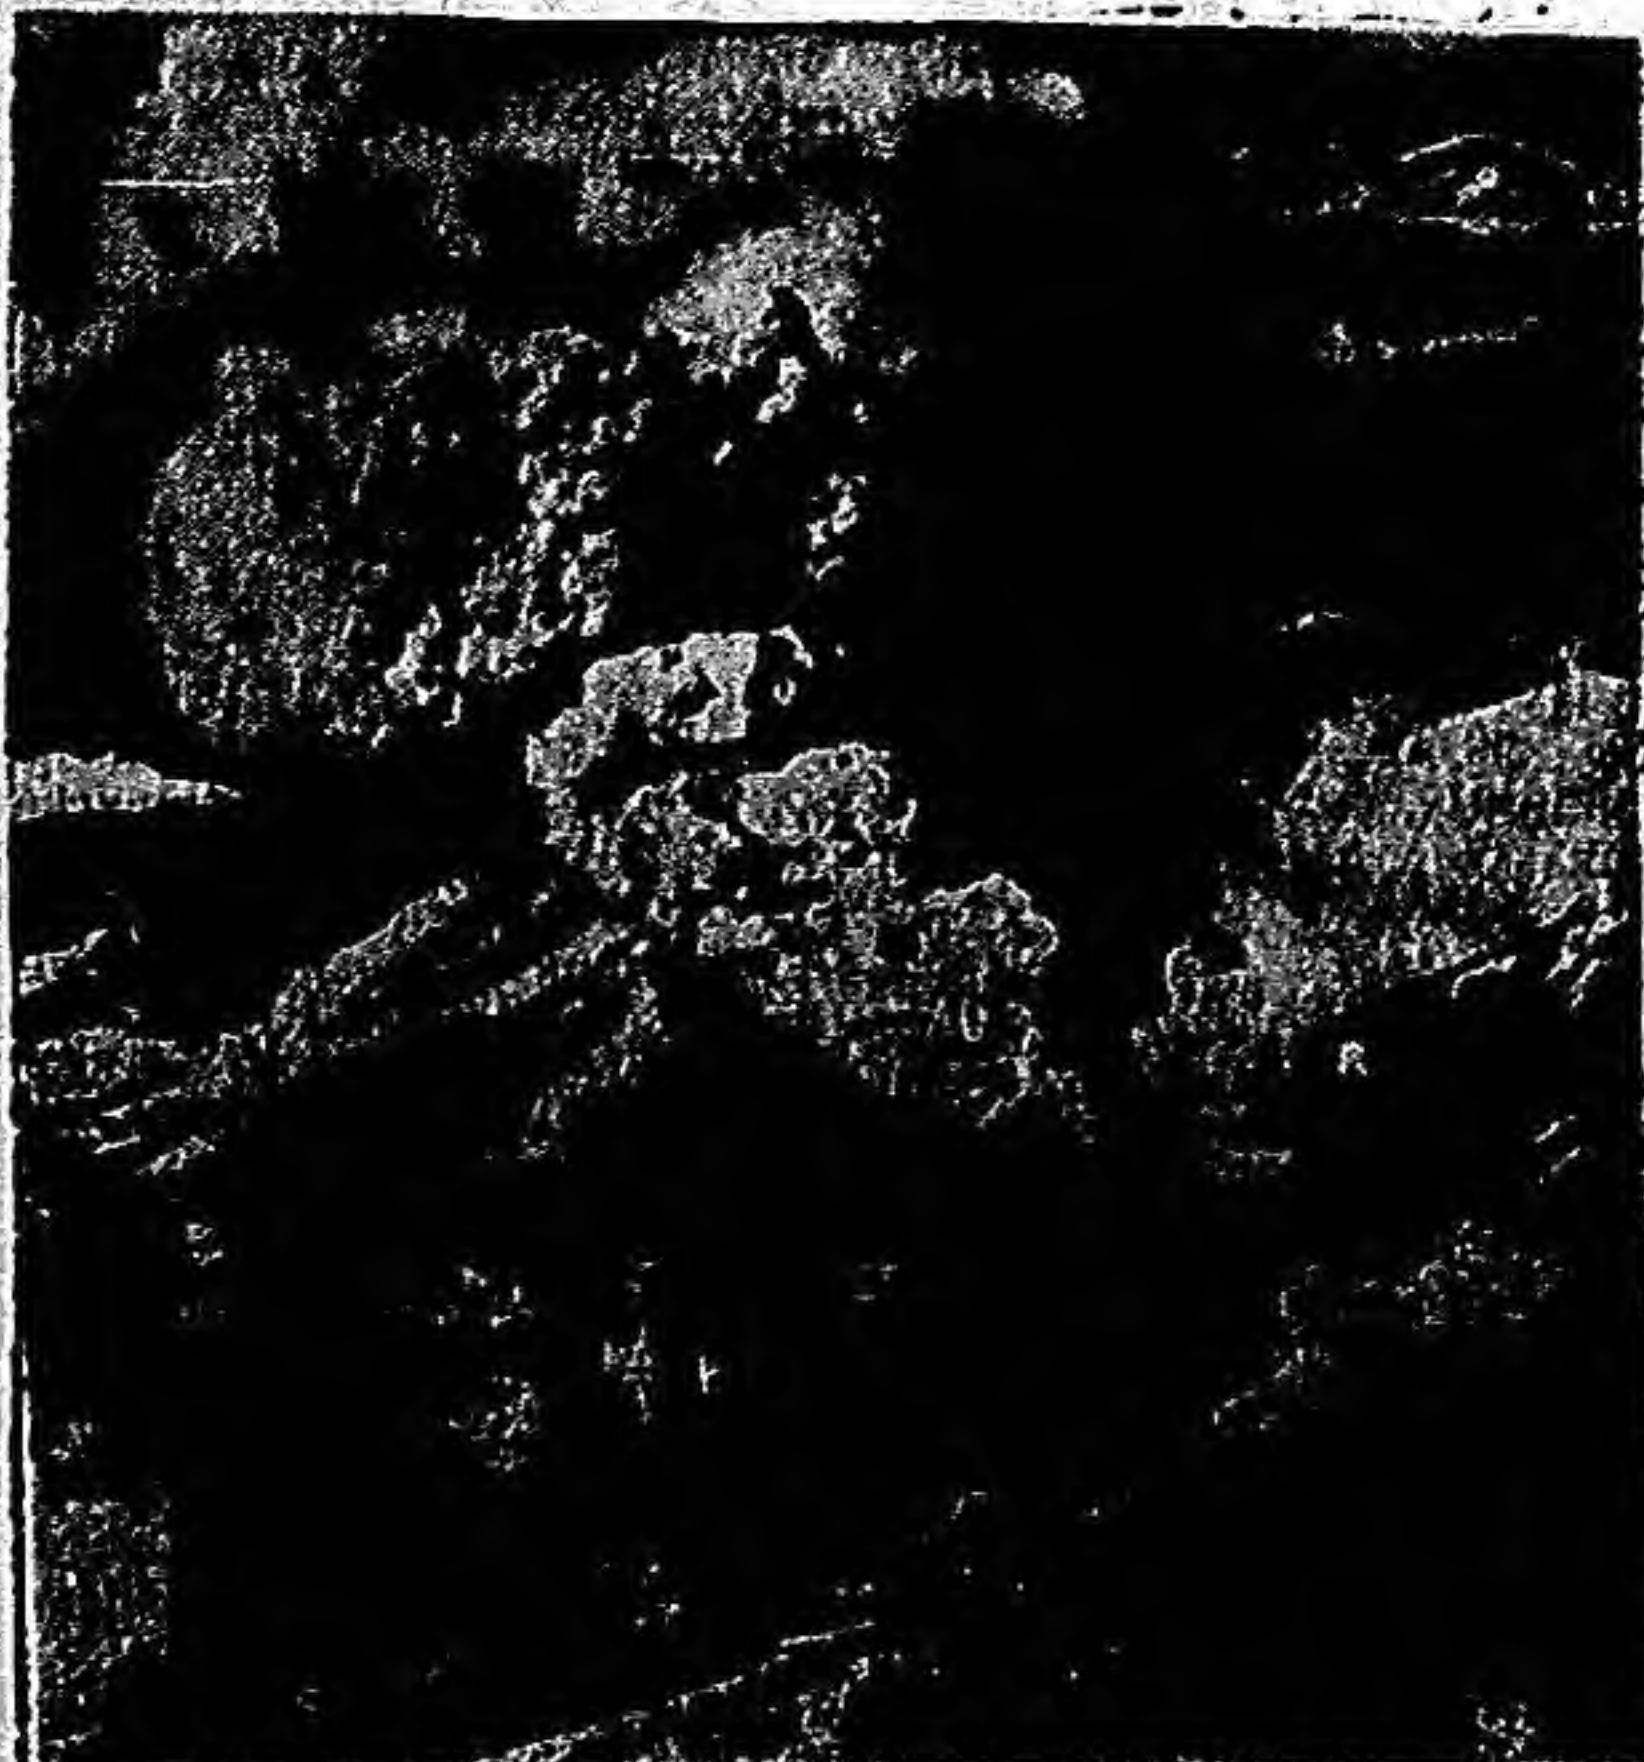

They are convinced that if the wage increase was asked for, it was justified. Whether or not it is short sighted, it is not for us to argue. We are convinced that the same would be done in our case, if our public relations with labor were improved. Personally, we cannot imagine one labor group opposing an increase in the price of milk, if, first, it is because the union wants more money and, second, the farmer has to pay higher wages. The trouble is, that to labor, the farmers are a collection of small capitalists, owning their own plant, consequently belonging to the opposition. By explaining that we represent a tremendous buying power and at the same time a tremendous amount of employment, we could gain understanding and a better living standard through better returns. We feel that sooner or later the Federation of Agriculture will have to tackle this on a national or provincial scale.

JAP STUDENTS STUDY CANADIAN SHIP

While a small schoolboy, Y. Sakata, right, industriously scribbles notes, Leading Seaman Yoji Inoue of New Westminster, B.C., and Guelp, Ont., explains some features of HMCS Crusader's emergency steering position. Leading Seaman Inoue's knowledge of the Japanese language came in handy when 187 sixth-grade pupils from Okubo primary school in Sasebo visited the Canadian destroyer while she was berthed in the port between Korean ports. The children later wrote competitions about their tour.

ALASKAN VOLCANO COMES TO LIFE

The valley of 10,000 smokes in Katmai National Park, on the Alaskan Peninsula, becomes scene of a spectacular volcanic eruption as smoke and steam shoot half a mile into the air from the left wall of Mount Trident. Lava was reported seen at the lower edge of the crater. At right is Mt. Katmai, which erupted in 1912.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national law; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of these activities which rest on individual choice.

Here's a story. It may be a help to someone.

One day many years ago when carriages were used instead of cars, a young and beautiful daughter of a wealthy land owner decided to go to town. She called to her servant, gave her orders and soon the carriage and its fair burden were on the way.

Upon arriving at the edge of the town she had occasion to ask her driver to stop the carriage and to deliver a parcel. This he hastened to do. Whilst he was on the errand, the horses bolted and the carriage was dragged, careening down the street.

A young and courageous man, seeing the danger of the young lady, dashed into the street and hauled the horses to a stop. Although he was successful in stopping the runaway, he suffered great and grave injuries from the plunging hooves of the frightened horses.

The young man was rushed to the nearest hospital. The young lady was taken to friends in town until she could return home. The weeks passed wearily for the young man lying in pain in the hospital and he was often seen rising slowly on an elbow and peering at the door. He would lay back with a sigh and a look of disappointment on his haggard face.

He gradually sank lower and lower and his efforts to peer towards the door grew weaker and weaker. One day a nurse asked him the reason for his anxious looks but he would give no reply.
At last the end drew near and with a last straining effort, he raised himself to peer at the doorway and then sank back to die.
As his last breath escaped, he was heard to cry, "I thought he would have come to thank me!"

Dear friend, have you ever thought to thank the God of all Grace who has done so much for you? Have you forgotten to say
"Thank you, Lord?"

The Second Elizabeth

(This is the first in a series of articles presenting the background to the Coronation. Today's story is on the new Queen herself, the second Elizabeth.)

By DENNIS BARDENS

In the dim, early hours of April 21, 1926, a girl was born to the gracious young Duchess of York and the World rejoiced. Few suspected that the baby Princess, baptized Elizabeth Alexandra
Mary, would ever become the second Elizabeth to sit on England's throne.

Nobody at that time even thought it probable that the Duke of York would ever become King.
King George V, strong, soldierly and upright, gave promise of living for many years to come. His eldest son Edward, Prince of Wales, was next in line of succession and was immensely popular.
The shy, retiring Albert, Duke of York, was only second in the line of succession.

Yet there were some who realized that there was a possibility that Elizabeth might some day become Queen, although they could hardly have foreseen the dramatic turn of events which was to lead to her accession.

The Princess's initiation into the limitations of Royal life began when she was only eight months old; her mother and father had to be separated from her for six months while they went to Australia to inaugurate the new capital.

Her early years were spent at 145 Piccadilly, into which her parents moved shortly after their arrival home. It was a happy environment: spacious rooms, quiet but elegant period furniture; a courtyard just large enough to shut out the noise of the Piccadilly traffic; a small garden at the back facing directly the undulating greensward of Hyde Park.

When learning to talk, the Princess mispronounced her name "Lilibet", a mistake which sounded so attractive that it was at once adopted and retained.
Lilibet was a great favorite with her grandparents and especially with her grandfather, King George V. She was a little mixture of impish candor and seriousness which endeared her to him. He laughingly told her, with truth, that she was the only person in the world ever to order him to "shut the door".

When she was four, her sister
Margaret was born and thereafter they were inseparable. Most of her early childhood years were spent in the country, at one of the family houses, at historic Glas-tis Castle, complete with its ghost or the Royal Lodge at Windsor.

Lilibet's upbringing was strict but not repressive. She was taught at home because a Princess at school attracts too much attention. Her mother taught her to read and private tutors took over, teaching her French and German by the time she was 10, in addition to music, history and other subjects. She had her first piano lesson at the age of four, disliked geography but was fascinated by history in which, had she chosen,
she could have earned an honors
degree.

And underlying it all was discipline. She saw examples everywhere around her. She saw her parents cope with the never-ceasing round of duties, the endless correspondence, the constant callers. There were charities to be encouraged, new projects to be inspected, important visitors to entertain from all parts of the world. These crushing demands she saw accepted with grace, good humor and genuine interest. Duty came first; self last.

Her grandmother, Queen Mary,
once gave her a salutary lesson in this. Girlishly, she enjoyed being photographed, being cheered by waiting crowds and having kisses blown at her. On her visit to Olympia with her grandmother she said, "Won't the people be pleased to see me when we leave?"
Lilibet was packed straight off home with a nurse by a side door, where the crowds couldn't see her.

Then, at the age of 10, the Princess's childhood was virtually ended. Grandfather had died.

The abdication of King Edward VIII shook the English-speaking world. Her father became King George VI.

From that day her upbringing was even more exacting. She moved with her family to Buckingham Palace. Direct in line of succession, she was trained in all she must know, the relations between various Commonwealth governments and the home country; the constitutional status of a King; the workings of the immensely complicated Royal household.

Calmly and good-humoredly
she took it all in her stride. She found time for plenty of reading, enjoying the works of E. M. Forester, Alexander Woolcott, H. G.
Wells and Somerset Maugham.
She developed musical preferences, playing Beethoven's Fifth Symphony whenever she could.
Yet until 1945 she had never been to a cinema, ridden on a bus or been in a subway train.

In March 1945, the Princess was gazetted honorary second subaltern in the A.T.S. (Auxiliary Territorial Service). By the age of 18 she was appointed a Councillor of State during the King's absence in the field of battle. She was an efficient driver in the war and had insisted on joining the
A.T.S., although her father wondered at the wisdom of the heir to the throne exposing herself to the risks of active service.

In the Forces they found the Princess cool, cheerful and willing.

Gradually, however, she emerged as a public figure. Her broadcast to the children of the Empire during the Battle of Britain, so clear and spirited, began it all.

A visit to Northern Ireland to launch a ship; the proclamation of peace; the tremendous ovation given to her family outside Buckingham Palace; her first journey outside the British Isles, with her parents on their visit to South Africa and Rhodesia and back to London and romance.

Rumor had long linked her name with Prince Philip of Greece. The little golden-haired girl was now in the full bloom of womanhood; Philip, the handsome sailor whom she had known since they were children, shared her love of music, interests and hobbies. She made her choice; it was a love match and her parents gave it their blessing. The nation rejoiced.

She had enjoyed a short era of adult freedom; theatres and cinemas, dances and parties. Now her public duties multiplied and were added to the cares of a home. But everyone who saw her during her trip to Canada, representing her father at the Trooping of the Color in 1951 and taking the salute, knew that she had achieved full stature. Here, we knew, was somebody who could be Queen.

Then, tragically, his Majesty King George VI succumbed to the intolerable burdens he had endured without complaint for his people's good. For Lilibet the freedom of childhood was now far behind, for "with one voice and Consent of Tongue and Heart" the "High and Mighty
Princess Elizabeth Alexandra
Mary" was proclaimed Queen
Elizabeth the Second.

Green Manure Helps To Maintain Soil Fertility

Nature does a good job in maintaining soil fertility without help from man, especially in protecting the soil from erosion and restoring organic matter.

The use of cover or green-manure crops in combination with cultivated crops is an effort to profit from nature's lessons.

If agriculture is to be permanent, soils must be managed so as to maintain productivity and stay in place where they can be utilized instead of being washed into streams and lost for all time.

The practice of using cover crops for green manure by turning them under while green is almost as old as agriculture itself. But only recently have we come to a fuller understanding of the manifold benefits of the practice (1) in adding organic matter to the soil, (2) reducing soil erosion, (3) in helping maintain soil fertility through addition of organic matter and nitrogen, and retention of mineral elements, (4) in improvement of the mechanical condition of the soil, and (5) in furnishing a better medium for beneficial soil organisms.

Green manure crops are grown more often in fall and winter than in summer when most cash crops must be grown. Summer green manure crops, however, are often practical and profitable in a sound rotation program. Among the most useful are such legumes as red clover, soybeans, cowpeas, sweetclover, lespedeza, and crutalaria.

There are many ways that cover or green pasture crops can be used. The principal points to consider are (1) to keep the ground covered with vegetation or mulch as nearly as possible all the time, (2) add as much organic matter to the soil as possible and (3) still take a sufficient amount of produce from the land to make the practice profitable.

Since there are so many crops suitable for green manure from which to choose, the farmer can give consideration to all factors in making his selection. He should confer with his county agent as to the best practice and his seed supplier as to price and availability of seed. He can then determine which would be the most suitable and economical of the kinds available to use.

WASHING'S NO PROBLEM NOW!

"Mummy took Auntie's advice" "It takes seven colours to make true white," Auntie said. "One of them is blue. That's why you must use blue in your wash. Just wash Reckitt's Blue through the rinse. It prevents that yellow tinge and you avoid taking chances with anything that may damage fabrics." Reckitt's Blue costs so little, mummy says, "and out of the blue comes the whitest wash."

Hospital Service, Costs Soar 3,555 Patients Here In 1952

Between 1940 and 1950, there has been an increase of 270 percent in the average per patient day cost in all general hospitals in Ontario. In presenting her annual report to the York County Hospital board of governors, Miss Lillian Thomas quoted these statistics to demonstrate the changing financial picture in just one decade.

In 1940, the average patient day cost in all general hospitals in Ontario, excluding Red Cross outposts, was $3.53, not including depreciation. In 1950 the comparable cost had risen to $9.54, an increase of 270 percent. During this period, hospital costs had increased 10 percent faster than had hospital income.

Hospital costs had increased faster than the general cost of living index.

To explain this abnormal increase in costs are such factors as inflation, the shorter work week for hospital employees, a greater proportional increase in wages to hospital employees than to other employees because of the original low level of hospital wages; the more intensive treatment of disease with miracle drugs and modern surgery; the general improvement of hospital service throughout the country with more hospitals adding departments such as pharmacies, blood banks, laboratories and physiotherapy departments and finally, the greater amount of paper work required of hospitals today.

Hospital day was observed at York County hospital last year on May 22. In September, the scale of salary for registered nurses and undergraduates was revised. This has assisted the hospital in retaining its staff and obtaining additional members.

In continuing her report, Miss Thomas paid tribute to the Hospital auxiliary for its support since their re-organization. A list of their donations to the hospital has already been published in the Era and Express. Donations of jams, jelly and fruit from homemakers in the district, financial donations from small organizations in neighboring communities and individuals, have been received by the hospital. Miss Thomas said that the hospital was indebted not only for the gifts but "for the interest and gesture of good will involved in the giving."

The admissions for the year ending December, 1952, were 3,555, an increase of 231 over the previous year. The daily average of patients in hospital was 58.8. Average stay was six days.

There were 852 live births and 18 stillbirths, an increase of 93 births for the year. There were 11 pairs of twins born. Operations performed were 1,574 (186 increase) of which 330 were major operations, 910 minor and 334 accident ward cases. There were 145 blood transfusions given, 4,598 x-rays taken and 368 casts applied in the fracture room.

Women Gather At Grace Church For Day Of Prayer Service

The Sunday school room of Grace church was filled to capacity when women of the local churches gathered for the annual World Day of Prayer service on the first Friday in Lent. The keywoman of the 1953 service was Mrs. F. G. Woodhouse, Grace church.

Theme of the service which was prepared by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada was, "Walk as Children of Light". Rev. A. R. Yielding welcomed the leaders from the various churches as they took their places at the front as well as all who had come to worship and pray together.

The call to worship was given by Mrs. Woodhouse and Mrs. John Shier, church of the Nazarenes, led the responses on the theme. Capt. Collins, Salvation Army read an excerpt from "The World at One in Prayer". Mrs. T. M. Keffer, Friends meeting, led in prayer. Then a series of prayers were given by representatives from St. Paul's Anglican, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, Christian Baptist, Trinity United, Free Methodist and Nazarene churches. The service continued under the leadership of Miss Margaret Gilmour, St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, followed by Mrs. Samuel Doggett, Trinity United church.

The guest soloist was Miss Margaret Rose accompanied by Mrs. Norman Park, Grace church and the address was given by Mrs. D. E. Locke, Salvation Army. Mrs. Fred Breckon, Christian Baptist church, pronounced the benediction after explaining how the offering is used by the Inter-Church council. Approximately $30 was raised.

In her message, Mrs. Locke said that Jesus' words were simply, "Follow Me" and the outcome would be goodness, truth and righteousness. People of the East walk with more poise than people of the West because they carry a burden. But Jesus said, "Be ye yoked with Me so we are not alone" and "Daily come apart with Me".

Newmarket Art Club Activities Increase

Besides the regular weekly meetings of the Newmarket Art club on Thursday evenings, the group has been included in several other activities recently. On Tuesday, Feb. 24, Bob Chadwick, president of the Newmarket club, gave a lecture at the Barrie collegiate to the junior night class.

He spoke on the basic principles of painting. Mr. Chadwick was accompanied by Doug Cockburn. Mr. Chadwick illustrated his lecture by painting a canvas 20x24.

On Feb. 19, 20 members of the Newmarket Art club were guests of the Willowdale group of artists when William Winters, O.S.A., A.R.C.A., gave a lecture at McKee school, Willowdale. Mr. Winters, who is a well known commercial illustrator for magazine articles, has done many McLean's covers.

Mr. Winters brought a painting of an old house in Toronto with him when he visited the Willowdale group. Illustrating various techniques, he used a palette knife, sable brush, kitchen knife, hoghair brush and even his thumb and fingernail in completing his sketch.

The Newmarket Art club has been asked to join the Willowdale group for another lecture. This one will be held in McKee school on April 7, 8 p.m. Lecturer will be Adrian Dingle, O.S.A., A.R.C.A., who is a portrait painter.

LADIES MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Senior Ladies Aid of Christian Baptist church, Newmarket, will be held in the church basement on Thursday, March 12, at 2:30 p.m.

Boys Take Home Etc. Girls Take Shop

Newmarket-Sutton district high school board has established a precedent in this part of the country. Sutton High school is now exchanging vocational classes in grades 9 and 10. The boys are taking home economics instruction from Miss Butler and the girls are taking work shop technique from Mr. Russell Dignam.

Although this experiment originated in Albemarle High school, North Carolina, as a convenience, to occupy time for boys while the girls were using the shop as a place to refinish some home economics furniture, the venture proved so successful that the experiment was adopted in a serious vein.

Throughout Ontario, during the past few years, this has been tried out in different high schools but it is the first time that Sutton High has been the "guinea pig". It appears to have been most appealing to the boys in particular.

Whitchurch Federation Holds Farm Discussion

At Vanderford hall, Feb. 25, the Whitchurch Federation of Agriculture held a panel discussion on agricultural problems. There were nine participants, leaders from farm organizations in York county.

Bert Palmer told how the farmers had financed the building of the new farmers' market at Thornhill. He thought that more markets of this kind would benefit consumers and farmers.

Frank Marritt spoke on school areas and said that they would give the rural children the benefit of more efficiency in school management.

Charles Grube explained that farm forums were a group of people in any community that come together to study for community and self improvement. James Hope asked why there should be a continuous demand by the consumer for a low milk and farm produce price while other prices remained on a high level. Mr. Fred Wicks explained how the cream producers' association were trying a new wrapper for butter.

Mrs. Reid Brumwell said that the York Co-Op. medical services was a non-profit, member-owned organization.

John Sytema explained that the territory rate on car and truck insurance was according to the amount of traffic and number of accidents in any territory. With the increased traffic caused by the proposed drive-in theatre in Whitchurch township, it is possible that the territory rate would be raised, he said. Frank Brumwell stated that in Markham township, when the farm land, taxation, from fire and police assessment, saving on a 100 acre assessment of $7,000 to the farmer was around $4. It was estimated the time to make out fire and police taxation on farm land was around two minutes or for 25 hours' work the Markham township farmers were saved an estimated $2,200.

Mr. Edgar Dennis said that some who attended the hog producers' meeting were not satisfied. The trend of the meeting was for increased production while the information wanted by the majority was on the new hog ceiling agency.

A resolution passed asked for a chart to be made, showing the amount of money each township contributes to the federation of agriculture, the number of farmers in each township who contributed and the amount each township would contribute with half mill levy on the assessment. It was stated that it was unfair to compare a township with six school sections against one with 13 school sections.

CASS — In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Fredrick W. Cass, who fell asleep March 4, 1940.
He'll live forever in our hearts.
His wife and daughter.
CRAWFORD — In loving memory of Fred Crawford, who departed this life, March 5, 1952. Gone but not forgotten.
By Jack and the boys.

LEITCH — In loving memory of George Leitch who passed away one year ago.
We are thinking of you today, dear dad,
But then, that's nothing new,
We thought about you yesterday.
And the day before that too,
And so throughout tomorrow,
Lord,

And hold her safely there,
We'll be coming for you always,
And wishing you were here.
Sadly missed by son, Harford, daughter-in-law Bernice, and family.

MILLER — In loving memory of a dear husband, William David Miller, who passed away March 2, 1947.
You're not forgotten husband dear.
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last,
I shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by wife, Flo.

MILLER — In loving memory of my dear father, William David Miller, who passed away March 2, 1947.
Sweet to remember one who was here
And who though absent, is just Sadly missed by daughter Ruth, Dave and family.

MORNING — In loving memory of a dear brother, Stanley H. Morning, who passed away March 2, 1952.
He bade no one a last farewell
He said goodbye to none;
His spirit fled before we knew,
That he from us had gone.
At night the silent stars look down
On a grave not far from here;
Where sleeps the one we can't forget.
The one we loved so dear,
Lovingly remembered by sisters and brothers.

MORNING — In loving memory of a dear uncle, Stanley H. Morning, who passed away March 2, 1952.

How sweet their memory still.
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
Lovingly remembered by his niece and nephew Wally and Dollie.

PEDLAR — In ever loving memory of my beloved husband, Arthur George Pedlar, who departed this life March 8, 1951.

Along my pathway in an endless chain,
You walk with me, and I am not alone.

STICKLAND — In loving memory of our dear daughter, Phyllis, who was accidentally killed March 5, 1952.
Sad and sudden was the call,
Of one so dearly loved by all.
It was bitter grief, a shock severe
To part with one we loved so dear.
To think we could not say good-bye,
Before you closed your loving eyes.
One year has passed and gone
But time and space cannot erase
Your memory from our hearts.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by mom, dad and sister Bonnie.

STICKLAND — In loving memory of our dear niece, Phyllis Yvonne Stickland, who passed away March 5, 1952.
Her dear bright eyes and cheerful face,

Always loved by Auntie Ede and Uncle Frank.

STICKLAND — In loving memory of a dear niece, Phyllis Yvonne, who was accidentally killed March 5, 1952.
When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quite alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing.
If she only could come home,
Frien may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know the heart-ache,
Our smiles hide all the while.
Ever remembered by Aunt Doris, Joan and Murray.

STICKLAND — In loving memory of our niece and cousin, Phyllis Stickland, accidentally killed 1 year ago today March 5, 1952.
It was so unexpected,

WOMAN'S WORLD

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE ION

Early in February, the first International Hobby and Homecraft show was held in Toronto. We were unable to attend and felt that many like us would be interested in hearing the impressions of the group from town that visited the show.

About 40 local women visited the Hobby show when the Newmarket Handicraft group chartered a bus. Major criticisms of the show centred around the fact that the simple hobbies requiring little thought and work were not separated from the crafts, the results of skill and techniques applied over a long period of time.

The following is Mrs. E. A. Mitchell's impressions of the show. "The show covered hobbies such as weaving, leathercraft, ceramics, jewelry, sewing, needlepoint, smoking, hat and bag making, rug weaving, lace work, painting, wood working, lamps, hooked rugs, spinning, model railroading, stamp and coin collections.

"The leathercraft exhibit was well displayed. Having seen many of the pieces before, I was happy to see them again. They are so beautiful and the hobby is so distinctive of this country. I think possibly Robert Munn being a Quaker and having association with the group in Newmarket, ties it in a little closer. The work done with the heavy cowhide was lovely and must have been very difficult. The coloring was unusually beautiful.

"The woodworking had a large variety of articles in its display. Included were modern furniture and reproductions of antique furniture. Inlaid tables and highly polished, bleached woods were seen. There were cabinets of all sizes and description. Boat building was well displayed and created much interest.

"The weaving took considerable space with our Mary Andrews in charge of the Y.W.C.A. weaving from Oshawa. Mary had 45 yards of tartan on her loom, mostly woven at the fair. There were many articles displayed. Table settings and bags, also material with leather and felt work were featured from Oshawa.

"Lex Cullingham, Hamilton, also well-known by our local group had a lovely and varied display of woven articles. They included a housecoat, skirts, draperies, rugs, table settings, bags and many other items.

"Mrs. Bannister had a fine display of suits, a coat, upholstery and drapery material as well as a loom for anyone to sit down and try her hand at weaving.

"There were beautiful lamps made from driftwood that fit in so well with modern furnishings. Another interesting group was of large and small pictures in inlaid woods.

"Needlepoint was well displayed and included various types of work. Employed in the large and small pieces were such stitches as the cross stitch, petit point, tent stitch as well as many others. In some, the coloring was delicate while other exhibits were bold in both color and design.

"The oil paintings of Winston Churchill and Viscount Alexander received a great deal of attention from visitors to the show. There were a group of oils, the work of the Weekend Artists' group.

"Design and color were again at their best in the display of hooked rugs. Model trains captured the interest of old and young alike. It is amazing how these little trains can be operated.

"There were handcrafts on display from Lambert Lodge, handicapped Girl Guides and other disabled persons. Budgies, tropical fish, show birds and rabbits were only a few of the other groups of exhibits included in the show. I haven't mentioned the Coronation Fashion show, cooking school or display of spinning of rabbit's hair.

"It was almost too much to see in one day. The show was very good and many of the exhibits will inspire visitors to attempt crafts and hobbies themselves. But we came away from the fair feeling that the arrangement could be improved upon in future shows. The good and the not-so-good were not separated. There wasn't the incentive for the hobbyist to perfect his work to the point of it being a craft and our group felt that unless that was done, much of the purpose of the show would be lost.

(Our thanks go to Mrs. Mitchell for sharing her impressions of the Hobby Show with all of us.)

HOME AND SCHOOL CONCERT RAISES $50 FOR FLOOD

A Sunday night concert presented in the Newmarket town hall under the auspices of the Newmarket Home and School association raised over $50 for the Flood Relief fund. The concert featured the Newmarket Citizens' band and local talent.

Robert McGuire, chairman of the Flood Relief committee acted as master of ceremonies. Following the opening number by the band, under the direction of William Greig, Mrs. Fred Breckon led the group in prayer. Mrs. Breckon is convener of religious education for the Home and School association.

Readings were given by Mrs. B. L. Sinclair. Wayne Wonch, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wonch, played several selections on his piano accordion and an original humorous feature was presented by Jack Struthers, editor of the Era and Express. Replacing the soloist, Miss Catherine Uittvugt, was Miss Margaret Ann Crowder. She was accompanied by Mrs. Reid Atkinson who convoked the project for the Home and School and in that capacity thanked the artists and audience for the successful evening.

Twelve guides, members of the Newmarket Guide company acted as usherettes for the concert and took up the collection. At the close of the program, light refreshments were served to the band and other artists by the Home and School. Assisting Mrs. Atkinson were committee members, Mrs. Charles Jameson, Mrs. Edward Wrightman, Mrs. Nelson Ion and Mrs. Charles VanZant. Advertising posters for the concert were made by pupils of grade 8 classes in the public schools.

King-Vaughan Operations Halt for O.R.H.A. Play

King-Vaughan hockey league operations have been suspended temporarily, says league secretary Bill Brendon, in order to allow the league teams to compete in the O.R.H.A. playdowns.

Schomberg, entered in intermediate C, is marking time awaiting the winner of Lake Shore or Tri-County league to provide first round O.R.H.A. opposition. King City Maroons have drawn Markham as first round opponents in the O.R.H.A. senior series.

Bolton and Peaches A.C. are hooked up in first round O. R. H. A. intermediate A playoffs. Their series stands at a game each with the third and deciding game carded for Nobleton arena tomorrow, Friday evening.

Kleinburg Greenshirts, carrying the King-Vaughan league torch in the O.R.H.A. intermediate B series, knocked off Brougham in two straight and now await notification of their second round opposition.

Optimists' Semi-Finals

Semi-finals in the Optimists' N.H.L. got into full swing Friday. Canadiens, first place finishers and favorites to cop the bunting, were handed a surprise when Rangers upset them 5-4. That means the Rangers will have a goal edge to protect in game two, booked for the arena tomorrow night.

In the other semi-final, Leafs and Bruins ripped through 60 minutes of rousing action to a 5-all draw. Rangers spotted Canadiens a 4-2 lead, then recuperated with three late tallies. Bill Cain and Raymond Gurr scored two goals each, Jack Cain added one goal support and Bill Cook shone in goal to spark the Rangers' triumph.

Canadien marksmen were Brad Walker, Grant Morton, Derb Rogers and Lorne Babington. Francis Lewis, with two goals, was Leafs' best man. Brian Stokes, Bob Wilson and Don "Hurricane" McKnight notched Leafs' other counters.

Harold Harper and Don Thoms copped the Bruins scoring honors with two each. Earl Lohman, who started in the Bruins' net, then shed the big pads and fired the Bruins' other kill shot.

Specialties Tie Stouffville In Juvenile Playoffs

Newmarket Specialties and Stouffville Redwings are at it hot and heavy in their North York juvenile hockey league semi-final series. Stouffville holds a 1-0 lead in games by virtue of their 6-5 home win Friday. Monday the teams put on a rousing five-all draw.

The next game will be played in Stouffville tomorrow night. The Specialties must win to stay in the playoff hunt. The winner meets the survivor of the Aurora-Richmond Hill semi-final series for the league crown and Stew Patrick trophy.

Looking back at Friday's game, Stouffville jumped away to a 4-0 lead in the first two periods. Specialties came back full of vim and vigor to tie it early in the third. The effort proved too much for the Specialties. Stouffville won it on two late goals as they outscored the Specialties 2-1 over the rest of the route.

In Monday's free-wheeling gallop, Specialties led 4-2 midway through the second. Stouffville came back to tie it before the scrapers came out. Newmarket took the lead at the eight minute mark with Stouffville tying it in the last three minutes of play.

Geo. Davis, with two, Jack Staley, Freeman West and Delwyn Creed with a goal each, supplied the Specialties' scoring at Stouffville. Bruce Fockler beat Dick Corner twice to pace Stouffville's winning march.

On Monday Grant Morton was the Specialties' top hand with two goals. Delwyn Creed, Freeman West and Glen Ketter scored the Specialties' other goals. Tom Forgie netted twice while Bruce Fockler, Bob Barnes and Dave Hamersley notched singletons to build Stouffville's count.

second. Jack Andrews and Don Patterson listed each other in the main bout. Referees Cec. Carpenter and Bob Peters meeting out, out of game sentences to stop it.

Dust off the superlatives about the Spits' Saturday operation. They played like coming champs. They were out of the first period 2-0 leaders. The teams traded a pair of goals each in chapter two. It was well the Spits had stocked early. Builders came strong in the final 20 minutes to outscore our tribe 3-2 with Ken Tupling to the rescue to frustrate Builders' attempts to tie it.

Don Smith with Les Clarke and Don Gibson assisting and Bill Johnston with Don Smith the helpmate copped Spits' stanza markers. Myles McInnis and Keith Collings took turns scoring and assisting for the Spits' second period goals.

School Hockey League

A trio of hard-fought, close games were the ticket again Saturday in the school squirt league. The scoring round-up reads thus: Rangers 1, Leafs 0; Canadiens 1, Bruins 0; Redwings 0, Black Hawks 0.

The school pee-wee league production lads gave the scorers brisker business as Marlboros topped Biltmores 5-3 and Spits applied an 8-1 double-whammy on the Flyers.

Brian Bales swooped in to scoop in Terry Cain's pass to assure the Rangers' win over Leafs. The loss didn't effect the Leafs' first place standing. Up and coming hockey lad Larry Tunney potted Roger Fines' relay to set up the Canadiens' 1-0 triumph over the Bruins.

Wayne Crouch's two, plus single scoring hot shots by John Walker, Kerry Peters and Bobby Byers provided the Marlboros' winning edge over the Biltmores. Paul Forhan scored two and John McKnight hit for a single tally to keep the Biltmores close. Ian Dick was the Spittfires' money-in-the-bank scorer with four.

Terry Budd notched two while Tom Wadsworth and John Hopper shared in the Spits' scoring with a goal each. Ernie Hartling's nifty effort kept the Flyers from a shut-out shame. The Marlies and Spits are now tied for the league leadership.

The headman will be back this week, both as a coach and player and it will be very interesting to see whether the presence of the big fellow is as inspirational and as effective as it's said to be.

Certainly, in his absence, both clubs have slumped; in this corner it's mental attitude and over-confidence that's to blame and these factors plus the law of averages may make it hard for Eddie to make good his boast to the O.H.A. that the next time they'd see him, he'd be there to collect the silverware. Certainly the O. H. A. and sportsmen everywhere realize it would be a healthier situation to see some other municipality named as the home of champions.

In both intermediate and junior the North York clubs have given the Georgian Bay teams their closest battles; that should augur well for their ultimate success if they can get by Collingwood.

Harry Morrison who has done a topflight job in his first coaching assignment and the veteran Char-les Kowatree are both warbling to their charges "Now is the Hour".

Spittfires started it Tuesday in Collingwood and will have the S. R. O. sign out early tonight. It's every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, alternately from here in, in the best of seven clash. Let Mr. Hashman deal with the crystal ball as he has done so successfully in the past.

The Bears went to Collingwood last night and will be in Aurora on Friday. The following week the clubs will meet on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The other dates will be set as necessary. In other years the series has never gone further than five games. This year we look for it to go at least six.

On the season, the teams have broken even and on goals it's 28 for Aurora and 24 for Collingwood. The Aurora team figures that goalie Don Hudson and forward Chuck Edwards hold the answer to their problem. They believe they know how to beat Hudson in the nets. If they can hold Edwards from those pay-off goals, they think that Jim Barrett, Val Walker and Tubby Collins can be quelled.

Dixie Rhodes rejoined the club Sunday. The fans saw him pinch hit for Avros last week against Mahers and do a workmanlike job. Rhodes has been working at nights most of the year and he'll not be called upon unless Joey Burke is injured or off-key. He's plenty good insurance and Sweeney, Gray, and Al Child, the other understudies, realize that Rhodes has what it takes. All the players are fit and ready to go except for Bob Fallis.

Centres Artie Barber and Joey Gasko will be charged with special offensive roles since they led the club in scoring over the regular route. The club is grateful to Victory Flyers of the Aurora Town loop for switching practice hours to aid the team. Fan support away from home is urgently needed and we think it's time the fans started to follow the club away from home. The series will be as great as any of its predecessors and Aurora fans have a better right to feel quietly confident than in any other year. Give the Spits and Bears your support.

March Mullerings; Woodbridge Legion took down the Zone E 2 bowling championship on Saturday last but Cliff Chapman and Don Mathews of Aurora branch did all right too, winning the doubles. The next stop is Wasaga Beach on March 14 and the winners of the district will go on to Oshawa for the provincial finals. These Legion members certainly have the most complete recreation program for their members of any organization in Ontario: darts, billiards, cribbage to follow and for the youngsters, minor hockey.

Collingwood and Eddie Bush have become very important words to the sport fans of both Aurora and Newmarket. For the past two years, Aurora juniors and Newmarket intermediate Spittfires have been trying unsuccessfully to sink the ships of Admiral Bush. All attempts have been unsuccessful so far but judged on the performances of the Spits and the Bears the past ten days, it looks as if the tide might be turned and the burghers of Aurora and Newmarket will do a little celebrating.

Spits Beat Builders Twice

Who said Collingwood Shipbuilders were invincible? Spits proved otherwise last week knocking off the Builders twice in the closing regular season matches in the Big 8. Here Thursday, Spits rolled up a 9-3 majority and followed this up by edging the Builders 6-5 in Collingwood bath night.

That closing effort was the highlight as it shattered the invincibility cloak that has surrounded the Builders' operations against the Spits in their own

N. York Minor Playdowns Optimist Midgets Qualify For North York Finals

North York hockey fans are showing a keen interest in the North York Minor Hockey League playdowns. Here's the latest information on the playoffs.

In juvenile, Aurora Wilson's and Richmond Hill Rose Kings will play a 4-point game in the Aurora arena tonight (Thursday), to decide a winner in their semi-final series. Stouffville Redwings and Newmarket Specialties, engaged in the other semi-final bracket, haven't declared a winner as yet.

Stouffville won the first game and the teams battled to a 5-5 tie Monday. Next game is booked for Stouffville tomorrow, Friday. The winners in the semi-finals will clash in a best two out of three set for the league's title and the Stew Patrick Trophy.

In midget, Newmarket Optimists, who racked up four straight wins in the semi-finals, have qualified to meet Nobleton Waltons for the league title. Nobleton at present is engaged in O.M.H.A. play and the league finals will start rolling on a best two-out-of-three basis as soon as Nobleton completes its O.M.H.A. obligations.

In bantam, Aurora, Newmarket and Woodbridge will vie for the league title and the Lex McKenzie Trophy. The bantam playoffs have been suspended temporarily until Newmarket Smoke Rings complete their O.M.H.A. playoffs.

Optimist Midgets

Showing the form that put them through the North York Midget Hockey League race with only one loss, the Lowell Waller coached Newmarket Optimists qualified for the league's title series when they scored a 4-2 win over Tubby Barrow's Richmond Hill Rose Kings at the arena Friday.

It was the Optimists' fourth straight win in the North York semi-finals and the one obstacle remaining in their path to a title is Nobleton Waltons. The Newmarket-Nobleton title series is expected to open next week.

The Optimists got the jump on their Hill rivals in round one to establish a 2-1 lead. Bill Cain deflected a pass from Grant Morton and Earl Lothian and Earl Lothian dunked Bill Forhan's pass. Don Keith supplied the Hill's counter punch.

The teams whistled through a scoreless second session. Optimist attack started rolling again in the third with Jack Cain polishing off a combo that took in Ken Bell and Warren Townsley. That goal made it 3-1. It stayed that way until 18:22; then the Optimists ran into a string of penalties.

Peter Hart walked in on the unprotected Bob Pegg for the Hill's second tally. Grant Morton re-established the Optimists' two-goal edge when he culminated a sole spurt with a back hander that beat Cottrill in the Hill strings.

SMOKE RINGS WIN IN SOUND

Good news. Newmarket Smoke Rings currently battling in the O.M.H.A. fifth round, moved into Parry Sound last night and gained an 8-3 win over the Sounders. That gives the Smoke Rings a five goal lead to carry into game two of the home and home goals-to-count series. Game two will be played here next Monday at 8 p.m. Jack Brooks, Ron Egan, Lorne Babcock and Dan Patrick supplied the local goal scoring power in last night's victory.

Spitfires And Shipbuilders Tie

Spits and Collingwood battled to a 4-4 deadlock in the opening game of Big 8 group finals Tuesday.

Holding the Builders to a tie was a moral victory for the Morrisomen. Now three of the next five games—here tonight, next Tuesday and next Saturday—will be aired locally.

Collingwood fans and the visiting Newmarket contingent voted it a best of the year game as the teams dished up torrid, end to end hockey. There were only seven penalties; Spits drew four, Builders three.

Despite the fact three of their players were late arriving and didn't get into action until midway through the first period, Spits were leading 1-0 after 20 minutes. The teams got more scoring mileage in the second as the Builders outscored the Spits 3-2. That made it 3-3 all dead-lock.

The teams cashed a goal each in the third period scrimmaging. So it was into overtime and although the Spits held the advantage territorially in those tense overtime minutes they couldn't make it pay off as Reggie Westbrook palmed off some sure fire goals.

Bill Johnston, one of the late arrivals, made up for it with two vital goals to spark the Spits. Bill Mabbett and Don Gibson were Spits' other handy scorers. Don Smith starred with three assists, helping on Johnston's two and on Gibson's mark.

Myles McInnis made the play for Bill Mabbett's goal. The Builders peppered Ken Tupling with a mountain of rubber but Tup was equal to it to rate a star.

SPORT NEWS

The Mahers-Avros game last week netted approximately $300 for the British-Netherlands Flood Relief Fund. The game re-united ex and present Hub hockey greats Bill Thoms, Herb Cain, Hughie Mair, Ortie Thoms and Harold Tunstead and the fans' main interest was on their ice lane patrol work. The game was sponsored by the local Flood Relief Committee, headed by Bob McGuire, Joe Dales and Eddie Wrightman. Left to right are Scotty Mair, Harold Tunstead, Bill Thoms, Ortie Thoms and Herb Cain.

HASHMAN AWARD

For Don "Red" Smith

What is a hockey team's greatest need in these days of hurry-scurry, goal-mouth scramble, hockey? Why, a good goal-keeper to be sure. Well Bill Hodgson and Stan Terry, mentors of the Kettleby Combines machine, thought they'd gone down for the third time when they lost their netminder just before the town league semis opened. The night the semis opened Kettleby had no goal-keeper. They got permission from Vandorff to grab off anybody they could find in the rink. Well, the Hodgson-Terry search paid dividends. They wheeled Don "Red" Smith - regularly a forward with Keswick Comets - into donning the big pads. Smitty did - and Smitty's been stopping a lot of rubber on behalf of the Combines ever since. He's stopped so much in fact that Vandorff trails Kettleby 2-0 in games in the semis. These goal keeping efforts (Smitty's first by the way) I think rate the Hashman award and Roxy Theatre pass this week.

Quick doc, the needle. There's an epidemic of play-offitis raging. Let's see, the Spits are at grips with the Builders; Bears are endeavoring to double-whammy Bush's Greenshirts; our Smoke Rings are cutting a handsome caper in the O.M.H.A.

Out west, King of the Turkey Men, Doug Marchant and his gallant Schomberg scrappers, have the fans in a tizzy as they make a final stab at the bantam D title. Keep your fingers crossed. If the Bergers can swing it against Atwood, they'll bring North York it's first O.M.H.A. title.

Back home again, the North York juvenile-midget playdowns are in full swing. Sad news: Stouffville and Richmond Hill have Newmarket Specialties and Aurora Wilsons hanging on the brink of elimination. Vivian and Mount Albert are prepared to go at it for the Simcoe Jr. title.

Say, we mustn't forget our town leaguers. Mount, Regents, Vandorff and Kettleby are into it hammer and tong in the semis. We don't think you could beat Tuesday's Mount-Regents clash for scoring eruptions and interruptions as the Mounties rode herd on the towners in the final minutes.

The amazing feature was that the Mounties did it all with but seven players. That should rate Murray Edgar the title of coach of the year. While we think of it, Ortie Thoms' rink-long solo dash and netting job was about the sweetest we've seen this winter. It added up to a very exciting evening.

Kettleby is showing the form expected of them earlier in the season. They have the Brown-Lavender-Alcorn Dorfers on the ropes. One more win salts it away for Kettleby. Looks like this paragraph is on the way to being the ex-number-one predictor. We just knew that crystal ball would do us wrong sooner or later.

Incidentally, gassing about playoffs, Builders are here to tonight and Tuesday and the Greenshirts square off with the Bears in Aurora tomorrow p.m. Monday our Smoke Rings entertain Parry Sound. If you haven't caught the Smoke Ring habit, better get it pronto. Those young hockey greats are creating Hub hockey history.

It's been a long, long time, if ever, since a Hub crew has advanced to the fifth round. Introductions please. We'll start with Frank Hollingsworth. Frank is doing a bang up coaching job. Frank gets the most out of the lads and they get out there and dig under his guidance. Larry Proctor is proving a first class puck stopper. John McGuire, who can also do a good job at the blue-line stripe, is Mr. Proctor's stand-in.

Lorne Babcock is a coming star and Don Zogala, Don Bone, Harry Cook and Kenne Cassavoy do a smart job of protecting the cords. Up front Aurora skaters Dan Patrick, Jack Brooks and Ron Egan,

HI-SPORTS

It's been a busy week on the basketball courts and hockey cushions. Miss Kelly's unbeaten N.H.S. junior ladies, carrying North York hopes, lost a 33-32 round decision to Orillia C.I. to fade from the COSSA playdowns.

The N.H.S. basketdears were 17-15 winners here Monday. That gave them a two-point advantage to carry into Orillia for the return game.

Despite a stubborn defensive stand, it wasn't quite enough to stave off elimination in the nip and tuck struggle as Orillia scored an 18-15 victory to take the round by one point. A 13-point first half, plus Marilyn Lee's 12-point scoring set up the home win Monday.

At Orillia Elsie Mitchell, Eleanor Clements and Marilyn Lee furnished the bulk of the N.H.S. scoring and Dawn Gilman turned in a standout defensive game. Newmarket line-up: Pat Quinn, Frances Markham, Elsie Mitchell, Lorraine Dolan, Peggy O'Halloran, Eleanor Clements, Marilyn Lee, Marg Cullen, Barb Watt, Marlene Evans, Barb Lucas, Dawn Gilman.

Pickering College and Aurora high divided a double-header basketball attraction to conclude the North York secondary schools league season. In senior, Pickering wound up an unbeaten season and claimed the league title with a 51-27 triumph. In junior, Aurora registered their first win in league competition by lopping off a 35-30 decision.

Dick McDuffee looped in 15 points and John Cameron 13 to spark Pickering seniors. Don Busby totalled seven points and Jack Jans six to pace Aurora. Ron Geddes pitched in 18 points to lead Aurora Juniors. Dick Faer was Pickering's pace setter with 19 points.

In hockey, Pickering College seniors threw up a stout defense and scored three second session goals to trip T.C.S. 6-2. Dave Stewart's hat trick and single sniping efforts by Bill Alger, Doug Dobson and Tony Drew featured the Pickering win.

Hap Holmes' S.A.C. bantams shut out Newmarket Smoke Rings 3-0 in an exhibition game in Aurora Saturday. Dave Caswell, Andy Holliday and Larry Gray netted S.A.C.'s goals. Goalie Larry Proctor was a standout for the Smoke Rings.

New Bomb-Proof Bank Vault; Publisher's "Ethics" Claim Not Supported By The Facts

The new Imperial bank building has greatly increased the business prestige of Main street and it represents major new features in the structural character of modern banks. Under the guidance of the manager, Mr. George Fish, we went through the new bank the other day and at close quarters were able to appreciate these new features.

Aurora can now boast that it has the first bomb-proof records storage vault in the long history of Imperial bank buildings, capable of withstanding a direct bomb hit. The vault covers the whole length of the building which is rather more than 64 feet and 32 feet in width.

Into the roof of the vault has gone no less than 18 tons of steel and it has a concrete floor. Its walls are lined with steel filing cases intended for the preservation of immense quantities of documents and valuable papers.

Modern Equipment

Mr. Fish showed us the three-ton steel door opening on to the bank's vaults, an invention imported from his native England. He also described to us the greatly-improved filing system behind the tellers' wickets and other modern equipment. With a present staff of ten, facilities have been provided for expansion to twice that number, as the need arises.

Manager George Fish has had a long service with the Imperial bank, which he joined in the year 1922. He came to Aurora from Virginia, where the Kerr-Addison gold mines, the largest in Canada, are located. He likes Aurora and its people so much that he would not wish to find a better situation.

Mrs. Fish, who is a lawyer and well-known as a brilliant speaker, is equally fond of Aurora. Like her husband, she takes part in many town activities. Daughter Carol, a high school student and sports and music devotee, is a member of the Coronation Little Symphony orchestra.

Practice Makes Perfect

The success of the Coronation Little Symphony orchestra has surprised as it has pleased, a great many people. In existence for less than six months, the tributes paid by Mayor Rose at its first public performance were well deserved.

To obtain greater instrumental variety, at least two members of the orchestra have undertaken the job of learning new instruments. Bill Thompson, who plays the euphonium, is learning the French horn and Jim Willis, saxophonist in the Don Gilkes orchestra, is in process of mastering the flute.

Corrections

In an editorial we wrote two weeks ago, entitled "That Which Was Lost," we credited "to err is human" to Scotland's rhymester, Robert Burns. We have received an unsigned note correcting us, pointing out that "To err is human, to forgive, divine," was written by Alexander Pope and is contained in his Essay on Criticism, part II, line 325.

KIWANIS FESTIVAL

Aurora Choirs And Pupils Win 29 Awards At Festival

In the continued competitions at the Kiwanis Music festival last week, Aurora gained further scholarships and awards. An outstanding distinction is the choice of the Aurora Public school mixed choir, under the conductorship of Mr. Illyd Harris, to sing at the Stars of the Festival concert at Massey hall this evening, March 5.

Award winners were Margaret Barrager, who took a first among girls under 18 and a third for girls under 21, winning the Kiwanis West scholarship.

Mrs. Lorraine Young took a second in the amateur or professional soprano class. Patrick Green was second for boys under 14. Don Watson took a third in the baritone open oratoria class. Shields

Winners of shields were the Aurora Public school junior choir and the Aurora Public school senior mixed choir. Second awards were won by the Aurora United church junior choir and the Aurora and District High school triple trio under 21. The Aurora and District High school double trio were also award winners among competitors under 21 years of age.

This further addition in the second week of the festival brings the number of awards won by choir and pupils under the training and conductorship of Mr. Harris up to 29 for the two weeks, making it a record accomplishment. Mr. Harris said he took pride in the performances of his choir and pupils and paid tribute to all of them for their fine work. He was especially pleased at the invitation the Aurora Public school mixed choir had received to appear at Massey hall.

DEFENCE OF THE PRESS

A vigorous press reporter will always expose himself or herself to the hostility of those who do not like frank publicity. Such hostility will not, however, daunt any reporter or commentator who has the interests of readers at heart, and is determined to make them aware of all the facts they ought to know of their community. It is this difference of motive that divides the good from the bad reporter.

A newspaper is the only medium through which a community can learn of the facts that concern it. If a newspaper is in the hands of a proprietor or editor who places self-interest before the public interest, the result is bad for the community. News will be trimmed to fit in with the personal objective; names of public representatives and what they say will, if necessary, be omitted to support that objective; and all the readers will get is a one-sided, partial account of what goes on.

These observations are prompted by certain actions of public representatives reported in this newspaper, who took exception to the presence of reporters. Such objections could not legally be upheld. Reporters and the public are free to attend all statutory meetings of council, school boards, or other organizations responsible for the custody and spending of public monies. They are entitled also to examine public documents.

Some public representatives appear either to be unaware of, or are reluctant to acknowledge, such basic public rights. No reporter can legally be excluded from attendance at any such statutory meetings, nor denied access to papers or records concerned with public matters. It is necessary, from time to time, to repeat these facts, in defence of the press and its freedom to report.

A STOOL OF PENANCE?

In its last issue the Aurora Banner took no less than 84 inches of its own newspaper space, ten and a half inches down and four columns wide, to give itself an advertising plug. In the course of its horn-blowing, it claimed that it gives the news "faithfully and accurately, uncolored by personal malice and jealousy and defeatism." Is the man worried? Can it be that he is prostrating himself on a stool of penance?

In a continuing avowal it is stated that "we" are "trying as hard as we know how to live up to the ethics of an honorable profession instead of going down into the sewer of journalism which is the only spot left to those who have no heights left to climb." That's what the man said. That's what Aurora Banner readers were told.

During the past almost two years, under its present editorship, we have had occasion from time to time to protest against the abusive character of some of the contents of the Aurora Banner. But nowhere did we allege against it what it now spontaneously disclaims being guilty of. In the same booster-disclaimer it informs its readers that they are now getting "two more inches of reading material in every column." But what kind of reading are they getting? Quality, not quantity, makes a good newspaper.

A few weeks ago the Aurora Banner editorial confessed to its readers that the writer sometimes felt "fed up and far from home". Is anyone stopping him from going home? We have not heard of it.

PLAIN AS A HYDRO POLE!

Not all of the "peace" campaigns are concerned with the international situation or conducted by totalitarian statesmen and their satellites. Some of them are carried on right here at home. Sometimes they are called "harmony" meetings. The purpose behind them is to eliminate opposition; in other words, to stifle the free expression of opinion.

The underground methods of the "peace" campaigners are rather subtle. When they have failed to suppress opposition by perverse misrepresentation, abuse and the like, they get into a huddle to find other means of achieving their objective. Occasionally they suggest a boycott. "Don't buy his papers," they say, "and he will die a natural death."

Boycotts, however, invariably benefit the proposed victim since they stimulate public interest in what he has to sell. The boycotters, being poor psychologists, do not appreciate the force of public curiosity. So they learn the hard way. They see their plans defeated. They lick their wounds and sit down and think again, and hear new suggestions from the headman. There is always, of course, a headman.

The headman gets a brilliant brain-wave. His henchmen gathered about him, he proposes a "peace" campaign. There shall be no more argument. The lion is to lie down with the lamb. The doors of "peace" are to be thrown wide open. Former opponents are to be welcomed in. All will be forgiven. Opposition is to be immunized by stroking and fondling it; at least some of it. In this "peace" the opposition will pass to its death.

The "peace" campaigners are funny old birds. They think nobody sees through them. Why, their plans are as nude, and as plain to see, as a hydro pole on Main street!

COUNCIL REPORT

Installation Of Floodlights Receives A Unanimous Vote: Debate Citizens' Protection

A regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday night, March 2. Mayor Rose presided and all members were present with the exception of Reeve Cook. The major topic of discussion was the floodlighting of the town park, which this newspaper has strongly supported. The project was unanimously approved by council.

Following the presentation of accounts and correspondence, Mr. Ab. Hulse, Q.C., gave the support of the Canadian Legion for the installing of floodlights. In a lengthy address to council he enumerated several points in favor of the proposal, chief among which were the instances of small communities which had introduced floodlighting to their advantage. "Floodlights," said Mr. Hulse, "are to be commended as good publicity for the town."

Mr. Don Glass, representing the recreation commission, in a few brief remarks, said he strongly supported the proposal as a worthwhile one.

Mr. Gardiner Lloyd, secretary-treasurer of the Floodlights committee, submitted to council plans for floodlighting which, he said, had been approved by the hydro experts. He estimated the cost of the project at $4,000, pointing out that the committee would make itself responsible for $1,000, and that another $1,000 had been promised by the agricultural department of the provincial government. The committee hoped that council would meet them in regard to the balance of the money needed. Council then deferred the question until the stage of new business had been reached.

Reports, Etc. In the course of some references to dog control made by Councillor Moffat, the mayor said that the Humane society would act on information given by any citizens who had cause for complaints. All that was needed was a telephone call to the headquarters of the Humane society. The mayor said that all such communications would be treated in confidence by the society, so that no citizen need hesitate to give information where there were just grounds for complaint in regard to wandering dogs.

Consideration was given to the question of decorating the town in connection with Coronation celebrations and the matter was held over for a later meeting of council.

Councillor D. J. Murray raised the outstanding matter of storm sewers on Hillview road. After some discussion the mayor directed the clerk to contact the engineer with a view to having the situation cleared up without further delay.

Councillor Moffat again brought up the question of a pedlar's by-law which had recently been the subject of a delegation from the board of trade. Mrs. Moffat said that since a by-law was already in force she did not see the necessity of further steps being taken. Council agreed.

Building Regulations Councillor D. J. Murray raised the question of the observance of the building regulations, and pointed out that as their inspector, Mr. Sam King, was doing a thoroughly good job, he felt that council should give him every possible support.

Councillor Moffat thought that if a test case were made where disregard of the regulations were proved, the result might be beneficial. When Councillor Davis demurred to the suggestion, Mrs. Moffat said "it was no use having by-laws unless we see that they are carried out."

Councillor Dale King suggested that pertinent clauses in by-laws could be advertised in the local newspapers so that property owners could be made aware of what the regulations were. Mr. King said that property owners could hardly be expected to remember all the regulations which were in force.

Mayor Rose said he considered Councillor King's suggestion an excellent one and a motion by Councillor Murray, seconded by Councillor Davidson, approving of Councillor King's suggestion, was carried.

Floodlight Discussion Councillor Moffat initiated a discussion on the representations received from the deputations heard earlier in the evening. Mrs. Moffat said she had accompanied Councillor Murray on a visit to the department at the parliament buildings, where they have been very cordially received.

In reviewing the arguments in favor of floodlights, Mrs. Moffat said she had been greatly impressed by the opinions of a business man who considered the proposal an excellent one, which would prove of great benefit to the town. This business man had told her he believed that the business men of the town were of the same opinion.

Councillor Moffat said the request for the grant from the department had been received without hesitation. She was of the opinion that floodlights should be introduced without delay and hoped council would approve.

Councillor Davis said he thought floodlights a good idea but he wondered about the cost. It meant that council would have to guarantee $2,000.

Unanimous Approval Councillor D. J. Murray, chairman of the Floodlights committee, in answering a number of questions, pointed out that the cost undertaken by council might not amount to as much as $2,000. The committee was undertaking a campaign for funds and it had already collected a substantial amount.

Mr. Murray said that what they really wanted was a guarantee from council that once the project was underway, it could be completed. The cost need not be met in one year, but could be met by temporary borrowings, as had been the case with other projects, such as the arena and the purchase of the fire truck.

Councillor Murray said he had reason to believe that floodlights were supported by the town, as almost everyone he had spoken to was in favor of them. As Councillor Moffat had pointed out, the proposition had readily found favor with the department and shared her remarks concerning the cordial reception they as members of council had been given.

Answering a question by Councillor King on the matter of maintenance, Mr. Murray said that that would be taken care of by the committee.

Mayor Rose said he believed that floodlights would serve useful purposes and that most people favored them.

In the end, council gave its unanimous assent to the project. A motion by Councillor Murray, seconded by Councillor Moffat, that floodlights be installed, was carried unanimously; and a further motion moved by Councillor King, and seconded by Councillor Davis, that a by-law be prepared setting up a Floodlight board, was also carried unanimously.

Councillor Murray thanked council, on his own behalf and the unanimous vote approving on behalf of his committee, for the project.

Protecting Citizens Councillor William Davidson told council that he was concerned over the lack of protection in regard to citizens who suffered accidents on sidewalks through no cause of their own. He said the town was paying heavy insurance premiums but there appeared to be no protection for citizens. He considered citizens should be able to claim compensation.

Deputy-Reeve Murray said that while he sympathized with Councillor Davidson's remarks, he could see no way of providing such provision, as the cost of insuring citizens would be prohibitive.

The deputy-reeve said the town was insured against liability and where it could be proved that the town was negligent in the case of citizens meeting with accidents, claims could be made against the town.

Mayor Rose said it meant that citizens had to take action against the town in case of accidents where negligence was proved. He regretted that no easy solution was possible. Council adjourned at 11 p.m.

Supporting the speakers on the Floodlight deputation, other members of the Floodlight committee present at council were: Don Mathews, Cliff Chapman and Jack Druey.

U.N. Work Not Only With Words

Says Home & School President

A silver collection for the Save the Children Fund was taken at the Feb. 24 meeting of the Newmarket Home and School association; $25.18 was received.

In announcing the collection, Mrs. Ray Holbrook, president of the group, said, "Perhaps when you received your notices about tonight's meeting and about the collection which is to be taken for the Save the Children Fund, you questioned our connection with United Nations."

"You will recall that at our past two November meetings, we have had as guest speakers, delegates from the Toronto branch, U.N. association," she said. "At the first meeting their discussion was on the Bill of Human Rights. At the second meeting, Mrs. Charles Catto and Mrs. Fred Brecker described the New United Nations' building and gave a vivid word picture of the opening sessions which they had attended in New York."

"Both topics were timely and inspirational. Since these meetings I have heard the comment that words do not make peace. United Nations is not depending on words to make the peace."

The U.N., like us, in Home and School, believe that education is the greatest and soundest investment of our time.

"While much is accomplished through their sessions, they realize that as long as there are areas where hunger, ignorance, squallor and rampant diseases prevail, there can be no peace. The resulting dissatisfaction of the people in these areas makes veritable breeding grounds for the 'isms'."

"Should we live in similar conditions, we would grasp at any straw for relief. For these reasons, United Nations sends food for the stomachs that words won't fill; medical men to fight disease; educators to raise the standard of living. In this way, the conditions which promote the spread of disease will be corrected and the peoples will be educated so that they can rise above their poverty."

"It seems only fitting that we who are concerned with the welfare of all children should be anxious to further this practical aid through the United Nations' Save the Children Fund. I am sure that what is donated will be given in the spirit of Christian charity through your desire to help unfortunate children. You can consider your gift as an investment in democracy, a stepping stone to world peace."

Farm Forum News

Newmarket East forum met at the home of Allan Baldson on March 2, to discuss "Is Equality in Education Possible?" There were 13 present at this meeting.

There were three discussion groups and they were divided on the question. Some thought the same opportunities were open to rural children as well as city children, if they were willing to study. The children learn more and remember it better, when they have to learn by themselves, rather than have it spoon-fed. Another group declared the rural children didn't have the same educational opportunities as city children. In the matter of trade training, the rural children are neglected, they said.

The forum decided more young people could be encouraged to enter the teaching profession by making the salaries attractive and a definite salary schedule. The next meeting will be held at the home of Jack Farr.

Holt and Mount Albert farm forums held a successful and enjoyable card party last Monday night in the community hall. The proceeds were $95 and all went to the European flood relief.

The first prize winners in 500 were: ladies, Mrs. Bruce Rolling; gents, Bruce Lapp, and the low went to Murray Stokes.

In euchre the first prize in the ladies was Mrs. Art Lepard; gents, Jo. Hall, Sharon; the low went to John Sytema. Mrs. Walter Case had the lucky number for the draw. There were nine tables of 500 and 20 tables of euchre.

The Common Round...

DOORS

To me there is always something of magic in doors. Who knows what may lie behind a door? I, at any rate, always open one with a queer sense of expectancy.

If it is the door of a friend's home and when it opens, if someone besides the friend stands there, one immediately, even before anything is said, imagines why it is not the opener one expected.

There are magic doors of the heart, mind and spirit as well.

On days when I wake feeling like Solomon, that all is vanity, when I look at myself and wish my nose were a different shape, when I forget to put baking powder in a cake and when the mail brings a rejection slip instead of a cheque, then I go to my door of magic and enter into another land — a bookland.

The beauty of it is that you can come and go quickly, with no time lost in transit, and there you are looking at the doors that will open to your touch and you enter with no fear that the friends within will have changed or disappeared.

If I am feeling particularly ruffled, I go to a green field in bookland and there "beside the still waters", with David, I feel my soul regain something of the unruffled serenity that should be its normal habit.

Or I might enter "Green Gables" and there, with Anne Shirley, find sweet converse with a "kindest spirit" and regain my sense of humor which had been strictly in abeyance when I entered.

Then there are the great doors that are opened by William Shakespeare and lead to many lands and many problems. We can go with him to Venice and hear Portia and Shylock or find history made exciting by his magic. And there are Tennyson and Longfellow and all the poets waiting to charm away the brain cobwebs that beset us.

Sometimes I go into mystery land and follow an exciting clue, pitting what I am pleased to call my brain against the multitude of might, all that the author so painstakingly builds up I find, in mystery stories, as in many novels, that authors have a pattern and in time one gets to follow it and so finds a way through the maze.

I may make a call, with Charles Dickens' permission, on Little Nell or David Copperfield or read and weep over the last chapter of the Tale of Two Cities.

I can find my way into newer doors: South Africa, in Cry, The Beloved Country, or England in A City of Bells, or a mining town in the U.S. in "The Miracle of the Bells, or into China in The Pavilion of Women.

But one thing all these doors have in common is that they open on a land into a home where you can always find food for spirit, magic doors that never close but always welcome those who seek to enter and be richly rewarded.

HOME AND SCHOOL PROVIDES RADIOS

At the February 24 meeting of the Newmarket Home and School association meeting, J. L. R. Bell, chairman of the Newmarket public school board, accepted three radios for use in the public schools. The radios, a gift of the association, were presented to the board by Mrs. John Rutledge, convener of radio and visual aids.

In accepting the radios which will be used in the Prince Charles, King George and Alex-no reason at this time to modify that suggestion. While no one should find offence in the honest advertising of a newspaper's merits, to make claims for it that its past records cannot support and in so doing defame its competition by implication, appears to illustrate present Banner "ethics".

Councillor Misrepresented
Giving point to what we have written is the Banner "report" concerning Councillor D. J. Murray at the last meeting of the recreation commission. It stated that he had "requested the press not to report matters which were brought up". Arising out of this misleading statement, Mr. Murray received several telephone calls.

What actually happened was that had a certain property-owner's name been published, the use of a children's playground might have been prejudiced. As chairman of the playgrounds committee, Mr. Murray asked the press not to publish the property-owner's name.

Councillor Murray has so often been misrepresented in Banner "reports" that on several occasions he has felt it necessary to correct them at town council and recreation commission meetings. On vital matters in which he has taken part his name has been omitted from Banner "reports". Could the explanation be "personal malice and jealousy and defeatism?"

Last week all copies of the Era and Express on sale in Aurora were sold out. While we regret any inconvenience caused to would-be subscribers, we deeply appreciate the public interest and confidence in our newspaper.

ander Muir schools, Mr. Bell thanked Home and School for the practical assistance they were giving the teachers and pupils of the Newmarket schools and said that this gift was further evidence of the excellent work being done by the association.

JACK SMITH WRITES

Ottawa Letter

A weekly letter from the member of parliament for York North.

Reaction to Canada's 1953 budget continues to be most favorable. Not only has it been well received here at home but it has won many favorable comments from prominent leaders and newspapers in the United Kingdom, the U.S.A. and other countries of the world.

Despite opposition criticism that income tax reductions were not large enough, the fact is that Canada's income tax levy is the lowest among leading countries of the world today. This is accomplished despite our very large expenditures for defence, world rehabilitation and our own very broad program of social security.

Foreign Affairs

Hon. L. B. Pearson, before leaving to resume his onerous duties as president of United Nations, gave the house and country a most interesting review of world affairs and the current international situation. In a sense, the minister's report was optimistic but at the same time he warned us against over-optimism.

The minister emphasized that the fight against Communist infection and its spread cannot be won overnight or cannot be cured by any kind of miracle. It can and will be won by pursuing a steady and determined policy based on practical common sense, patience, resolution and strength. This is the course Canada is following in the field of international affairs under the able and experienced leadership of Hon. L. B. Pearson, our secretary-of-state for external affairs.

On the sometimes controversial question of the situation in Korea, the minister made it clear that Canada's stand is that Korea is a matter for the United Nations and that any action in which we participate regarding it would have to be as a result of a United Nations decision and not a national decision by any one participant in that action.

The minister also made it clear on behalf of the government that Canada would be opposed to any decision or action which might extend the war in Korea unless there was very convincing evidence that such action would also end the war.

Farm Improvement Loans

The government has made provision for continuing farm improvement loans. The plan of encouraging credit for farm improvements was first approved by parliament in the Farm Improvement Loan Act of 1944.

The preliminary purpose of the act was to fill a gap in the credit system which has been developed in Canada to meet the special needs of agriculture. It was aimed at providing needed short term credit for the improvement and development of farms and for the provision of improved living conditions in rural Canada. The act aims at providing convenient credit on conditions more favorable than usual loan arrangements.

The provisions of the act have proven helpful as is evidenced by the extent of borrowings over the years.

Up to the end of December, 1952, loans totalling nearly $350 million have been made under this act. The total number of loans since the inception to the end of last year was 331,965. Losses guaranteed by the government have been very small which is to the great credit of Canadian farmers.

In the mechanization of farm operations and in the field of general farm improvements this act has a record of constantly increasing usefulness.

The record shows that the act has done much to improve the economic status of the Canadian farmer and it is agreed that anything that helps the farmer contributes to the economic welfare of all Canadians.

In the year 1951, farm improvement loans amounting to $78,302,384 were made. This represents an actual sales volume of farm implements and trucks of $136,788,751. For tractor loans the increase was 13 percent. It is estimated that approximately 45 percent of new tractors and 60 percent of new combines sold in Canada in 1951 were financed under the act.

The act was used considerably to assist the farmers of Canada to finance the building of new homes, new barns and other buildings and the repair or renovation of their present buildings. Since the commencement of the act, $14,708,000 has been provided for these purposes.

Livestock loans have marked the largest increase in any classification since 1950. The total of loans for that purpose, which amounted to $3,815,100 at the end of 1950 had reached a total of $8,400,187 at September 30, 1952. The amount has more than doubled in those 22 months of operation.

Improvements to and developments in connection with Canadian farms, valued at $1,010,109, were financed under the act in 1951. The loans for this purpose were $494,460 and were made for a variety of purposes, the most important of which is the clearing and breaking of new land. The extent to which the act has been used for this purpose is such that to the end of 1951, 373,641 acres had been brought under cultivation with 7,764 direct loans for this purpose.

Pussy willows outwitted an early arrival of spring at the home of Mr. A. E. Kelley. On January 1 he gathered the pussy-willows from his garden trees in King City, giving them to his friends as a reminder that spring was near. Tulips have been pushing their way well above the ground and crocuses are blooming, despite fitful weather of hot and cold. Weather watchers warn against too much expectancy of warm weather, since the old March lamb that ushered in the first of the month in an unobtrusive manner, is sure to be followed by a roaring lion that will take the month out in a fury of stormy weather.

Schomberg fire department was called out to the first grass fire last week when 75 acres of grassland between the 6th and 7th concessions, east of Schomberg, were burned during the height of a high wind. The fire gained headway through a clearing in the dense forest. Fence posts were burned. The same evening five more acres of grass were scorched and the fire department answered a second call. Suspicion of arson centred about the conflagration and Constable Art Moody was investigating.

The grass is as dry as tinder this year, and the fire department warns against the fire danger. Standing trees of cedar and mixture of other trees were in danger in this section of the township, firemen said.

At King temperature stood two below zero on Monday morning.

Sees Queen
When Mr. Harry Edwards returned from a visit to Cambridge, England, at the end of January, he was quite content to leave the hubbub of preparation for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

Mr. Edwards had the thrill of standing just a few feet from Queen Elizabeth II and her sister Margaret, who were entering a store to do some shopping. She is a lovely unaffected young woman and her subjects are very proud of her, he said.

Mr. Edwards made a find while aboard the Empress of France on his return journey. Among the passengers were a Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brown, who were bound for King, Ontario. "Since there were only three of us coming to these parts, I made myself acquainted with the English couple, who were to be employed at Tannery Hill Farm, by Mr. Borden," he said.

Remaining with a sick sister at Cambridge for most of his visit, Mr. Edwards was unable to see Bob Bessant, and Mrs. Elsie Pitt, former King residents. Nor were they able to visit him at Cambridge.

The land is part of lot 6 and all of lot 7, which is east of Dennison Ave. He would have to procure the names of two-thirds of village landowners and taxpayers on a petition to carry out his scheme.

Council also viewed a plan made by Lorne Graham, Richmond Hill, for subdivisions purposes at Bond Ave., Oak Ridges. Certain changes were suggested by council.

Approval was given by council to transfer 10 properties in the township, mostly for residential purposes and some for market gardening uses.

Trend of expansion was noted for Temperanceville on a small scale, when Fred Hare, general merchant, sought advice from King township council regarding conversion of one of his buildings into an apartment house on his property. It is a 24 foot by 84 foot chicken brooder house and a wing which was partly destroyed by fire five years ago. The two-story building could contain two full sized apartments, upper and lower floors, and a smaller apartment on each floor. Mr. Hare was advised to present a sketch of the plans to council.

Unable To Register Deed For Lot In Oak Ridges Park

William Crittenden, 44 Dupont St., Toronto, approached King township council at Monday's meeting, on behalf of his son, who owns lot 19, on George St., in the Oak Ridge Park subdivision but has been unable to get it registered. Mr. C. A. Meadows, owner of the subdivision had given the deed.

When application was made to a lawyer to have a mortgage raised, he asked that the deed be approved by King township council. It was forwarded to the Toronto and York Planning Board, failing to meet its approval. It then went back to the solicitor and is now in the hands of Mr. Meadows, the spokesman stated.

"What does my son do to have the deed registered, and what must he do to raise a mortgage?" asked Mr. Crittenden. Replying, reeve Elton Armstrong said that if "Mr. Meadows can't get the deed straightened out without the approval of the Toronto and York Planning Board, council can do nothing about it."

"Should we take Mr. Meadows to court?" asked Mr. Crittenden.

King Township Council Says Ridges Subdivision Not Approved

Subdivisions in the southern part of the municipality, were the main topic of discussion at the afternoon session of King township council, on Monday, March 2.

T. R. Deacon, solicitor and spokesman for C. A. Meadows and associates, owners of Oak Ridge Park subdivision, made a strong bid to council, suggesting that Mr. Meadows be allowed to put a "new plan" on the subdivision, and that council write him a letter giving approval of the scheme.

Mr. Deacon contended that home builders would be helped to get started. "Let them in and develop our municipality," he stated. He suggested that the matter "be closed for the benefit of everyone."

"The township solicitor has intimated that your council will take proceedings against Mr. Meadows, and that is costly," he pointed out.

"Well, that is alright," declared the reeve.

"We will close our own time, regarding any reply to your proposal," reeve Elton Armstrong said. "The Toronto and York planning board has never approved of Mr. Meadows' plan of the subdivision, and he was told not to sell lots, after the township restriction by-law was established on April 28, 1952. The by-law states that persons subdividing less than 10 acres in the township and conveying a deed and any person registering a deed, is subject to a fine. Mr. Meadows violated this order,"

Seeks King Watermain Fee To Offset Depreciation

The proposal of George Scott to King City village trustees at the February meeting last week, to levy a fee on subdividers of property who connect with the town watermain, was a new administration angle.

Mr. Scott contended that a fund could thus be set up to help defray depreciation cost of waterworks equipment for the benefit of those who have been paying debenture taxes all along. He said some other municipalities use this method.

Chairman D. M. Findlay pointed out that it would be poor business to "punch a good customer on the nose". Subdividers, he said, are required by the planning and developing act to install their own watermain and roads to the satisfaction of engineers in authority, the township council and village trustees. This means a revenue to the village. As the subdivision is developed and lots are sold, water services are installed, adding to the village income, he said.

All recent subdivisions, with in the village limits pay taxes and are taking their share in paying the debenture, it was pointed out. "Everybody is charged fairly, and the average householder has not paid extra for local mains on his street. No one is paying for what they have not got," stated trustee Carson.

Mr. Carson also questioned about contractors tapping water-mains, referring to a connection on Keele St. North, at Heritage Park.

"The work was left unfinished, making a hazard on the roadway. "It was a mess," said Mr. Scott. "You may not have been following village activities," declared trustee Findlay, pointing out that the work was completed after the original contractor had let out the job to a plumber. "No one is more concerned than the trustees, that watermain connection work be carried out properly for the protection of the public and the individual. We feel we should have more teeth in the contractor's work and further regulations are being established."

"Interest is a good thing," trustee R. H. McLeod commented. "We want contracting work finished and we take the bumps when things are otherwise. There are requirements for permits for connection with the mains." Mr. Scott said he would leave the matter with the trustees to improve the situation.

Star Scholarship of $200 at the Kiwanis Music Festival, Toronto.

The Park Board is holding a euchre in Sharon hall on Friday night, March 6, at 8 p.m. Good prizes. Lunch will be provided. See coming events.

There will be a public showing of films in Queensville school on Monday night, March 9 at 8 p.m. Everyone is cordially invited.

KING PLANNING BOARD

King township council has approved a resolution "that the minister of planning and development be requested to define and name the township of King as a subsidiary planning area to be named the Township of King Planning Board."

This decision was made early in February in view of the growth of the municipality, in the number of new proposed subdivisions as well as the increasing volume of township business, consumes more time at regular council meetings, than can be handled, officials point out. The board would consist of five members, one representative from council, with the reeve an ex-officio member and three members outside council.

Said the reeve, "We do not give legal advice; your lawyer should be able to look after it."

The Meadows plan of the Oak Ridge Park subdivision was turned down by the Toronto & York Planning Board, the reeve stated.

Mr. Deacon said he was before council in the "spirit of peace to help clear up the matter of the subdivision."

Meadows claimed he had received no notice that his plan had not been accepted. He was told by the reeve that two registered letters to this effect were forwarded to him. Meadows admitted he had sold some 10 to 15 lots after the April 1952 by-law was in effect, but that he did not need to apply to the department of planning and development because the land was already subdivided, on plan 202.

The original 202 plan was drawn up in 1911 and in 1948, when Meadows and Associates came on the scene, it was approved "to be developed," on a motion by Mr. Armstrong, signed by Norman MacMurchy. As a registered plan the land was divided into acre lots but according to the reeve, this plan has been changed twice by Mr. Meadows and no approval has ever been given by the T. and Y. planning board.

Mr. Armstrong did not say that council "would let bygones be bygones, or that it would accept Meadows' correction of anything done in error," as Mr. Deacon suggested. What the reeve said was that Mr. Meadows "was the only subdivider, with whom the council has had any trouble."

Mr. Deacon affirmed that no lots would be sold, urging council to grant a new plan on the subdivision.

Budget Plan Devised By King Village Trustees

The presentation of a draft budget for 1953, drawn up by trustees of King City Village will interest King township council, which had previously intimated that police villages should estimate lines of expenditures and revenue and do their best to "live within the budget."

King City had a deficit by the end of 1953, incurred by undertakings relative to village promotion, some of which were commenced the previous year. In the total budget of $3,090, the sum of $800 will reimburse half of the 1952 deficit; $900 will supply the township fee; $400 for village street lighting, while smaller sums will be utilized for maintenance of sidewalks, graveling and filling roads, weed cutting, hall rental, Holland Marsh drainage scheme, election expenses, street signs, fire brigade, and salaries.

The provincial subsidy is $185; village share of relief levy is $55; revenue from taxation, $2,700, and others will complete the estimated total revenue.
